

REDS BACK AGITATION

Renewed Civil Rights Battle Charges Come From Both North And South

Washington (AP) — A New England newspaper publisher joined southern segregationists Wednesday in leveling new charges of communism in the civil rights controversy.

From both North and South came attacks on Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy for saying there is no evidence of communist involvement in racial demonstrations around the country.

William Loeb, publisher of the Manchester, N.H., Union Leader, alleged that "communists definitely are a factor in the civil rights agitation." He said the cold facts make the attorney general's statement "entirely unbelievable and entitled to no credibility whatsoever."

Most Brazen
Loeb's testimony against President Kennedy's public accommodations bill came in the wake of a charge by State Sen. John C. McLaurin of Mississippi that Atty. Gen. Kennedy was guilty of "the most brazen cover-up job ever perpetrated on the American people."

McLaurin challenged the Senate Commerce Committee to call FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover to testify.
"I am sure he could present ample evidence that the communists were and are now using the self-styled Negro leaders as a part of the communist conspiracy," he said, adding:

"I don't think you will get it from Atty. Gen. Robert Kennedy."

Back Again
During this new flareup over the Red issue, first touched off by Mississippi's Gov. Ross Barnett in testimony before the committee

July 12, Kennedy was making his fifth appearance before the Senate Judiciary committee. He and Sen. Sam Ervin

Jr., D-N.C., continued their lengthy argument over the constitutionality of basing the public accommodations bill on the government's power to regulate interstate commerce.

They got into a discussion of whether goods shipped across state lines are still subject to federal regulation after they have come to rest. Ervin contended the sale of goods after they have been brought into a state and come to rest in that state is not a transaction in interstate commerce.

Cites Mann Act
Kennedy argued it is. He cited the Mann Act which makes it unlawful to take a girl across state lines for immoral purposes.
"She's come to rest," he said.

This brought a laugh from the spectators, and Ervin said "it's quite clear to me you don't understand the Mann Act."

Ervin said he might be able to finish his marathon questioning of Kennedy Thursday.

Chairman James O. Eastland, D-Miss., who shares Ervin's dislike for the civil rights bill rejected a proposal by Sen. Kenneth B. Keating, R-N.Y., that the hearings be speeded up by holding night sessions.

"I think we have been making in just as much progress as we can," Eastland said.

No Evidence
Kennedy wrote the commerce committee last week that the government has no evidence that any top leaders of the major civil rights groups are communists or communist-controlled. He said the communists have been remarkably unsuccessful in efforts to exploit the racial situation.

This was after Govs. Barnett and George C. Wallace of Alabama had cited pictures of the Rev. Martin Luther King, Negro integration leader, at what Barnett called a communist training school in Tennessee.

McLaurin told the committee Wednesday that when Kennedy says there is no evidence that King "or any of the top leaders of the major civil rights groups are communists, or communist-controlled, then he has either deliberately misstated the facts or is the most ignorant attorney general this nation has ever had."

Not Ignorant
McLaurin then said Kennedy "is not an ignorant man" and added:

"I charge that he is deliberately whitewashing the Negro leadership, with which he is in daily contact ..."

McLaurin offered his solution for the racial problem: move all the Negroes around so that each state has a 10% Negro population. He said some northern states now have fewer than one per cent while Mississippi has a 42% Negro population.

Loeb, in opposing the bill to desegregate all restaurants and other public accommodations, said "you cannot create brotherhoods by bayonet."

Cannot Force
"You cannot force Americans to associate with people they do not like," Loeb said, adding:

"What you can do and what our idealistic friends should be doing, is teaching and exhorting to make our discriminations on an intelligent basis, and not because of the color of a man's skin or his religion."

'Co-ops' Potential High For Rural Betterment'

By GLENN KREUSCHER
Farm Editor

Anyone who plays down the importance of cooperatives in the United States can count on a "stern" reaction from President J. K. Stern of the American Institute of Cooperation.

He believes cooperatives may have the greatest potential for improving the rural economy.

The AIC president asserted: "Prosperous farmers make a prosperous Main Street, and if there is any hope of keeping that family-operated farm prosperous, the answer can best be found where individual farmers integrate their buying, selling and services through cooperatives."

That's what Stern had to say about agriculture's future as he arrived in Lincoln early to formulate plans for the AIC's 35th annual meeting. A registration of more than 3,000 is expected for the AIC meeting beginning Sunday at Pershing Auditorium.

Institute theme is "Power in Partnership."

Family Operation
Stern prefers the term "family-operated farm" to "family-sized farm." He said today's agriculture sees the size of farms ranging from those with a few acres in highly specialized crops to those of thousands of acres in other types of farming.

In describing cooperatives, Stern likes to get across this point:

"They are not only the hope

J. K. STERN

of American agriculture, but one of the best expressions of the basic spirit of the American way of living, freedom, self-dependence and true competitive enterprise."

To illustrate their agricultural importance, Stern said you need only take away rural electrical and farm credit structures, and you would have a vast wasteland.

His life has been built around co-ops. While maintaining rural ties—he lives on a Pennsylvania dairy farm—he has taught, worked for and led cooperative action.

Only when he finds people who think co-ops do nothing for them does Stern get discouraged.

"There is nothing strange about a cooperative type of business," he declared. "Only one thing—it is owned and controlled by those whom it serves. (This is) the one way the farmer can have a voice in what he buys and how he sells, and most of our American way of business couldn't function 24 hours without using the same principle."

Clear policy statements from the U.S. Department of Agriculture in support of co-operation are expected during the AIC gathering, Stern said.

Co-ops, he noted, can do a better job by growing with the times, banding together for strength and financial power. "Only agriculture spends more than a half billion dollars weekly."

1,000 Youths
Two factors are highly important to cooperatives' future, Stern said, sound management and young persons. Nearly 1,000 young people—winners in 4-H and FFA co-op programs—will attend the AIC meeting.

Stern encourages getting younger people on boards of directors and balancing the vigor of youth with the wisdom of age.

"But one of the most important things for a cooperative manager," Stern said, "is getting along with people. This is the manager's biggest job, and then he must see down the road to what is best for his business."

Gerdes said he expects the board's defiance of the budget committee to result in repercussions once the Legislature's interim committee on higher education begins its work.

"I won't be at all surprised if the committee on higher education finds discrepancies between the schools," he said.

Comparison Used
The Budget Committee, Gerdes added, used comparative salaries paid in other states as a basis for arriving at its recommendations.

Normal Board member Carl Spelts, Kearney, said it is the Normal Board's responsibility to administer the $6,388,639 allocated to the teachers colleges by the Legislature and not the place of the Budget Committee.

Ulbricht Says West Troops 'Swindlers'

... MAY BAR BERLIN ACCESS

Berlin (AP)—Walter Ulbricht, East Germany's Communist boss, Wednesday accused members of the Western military forces stationed in West Berlin of being currency swindlers and hinted that he might stop them from free access to the Communist sector.

He did not say when or how he would do it.

In a speech before East Germany's rubber stamp parliament, Ulbricht also said members of the Western forces who travel in East Germany also engage in "speculative businesses."

He presumably meant members of the U.S., British and French military missions stationed in East Germany under an agreement with the Soviet Army which has missions in West Germany.

Despite Love
"Despite all our love for peace," Ulbricht declared, "no one can expect from the German Democratic Republic that she tolerates forever that members of the Western forces misuse the freedom of movement which they still have in the German Democratic Republic and its capital for illegal speculative businesses with valuable products of our industry, to the detriment of our workers."

Ulbricht in effect was saying that U.S., British and French military personnel are purchasing goods in East Germany with East marks bought in West Berlin at a cheaper rate.

Observers here interpreted Ulbricht's remarks to mean that his regime will keep Allied military personnel out of East Berlin and East Germany altogether or subject them to customs inspections.

Used Before
The pretext that too many visitors were engaging in "speculative businesses" also was used when the Reds began tightening access to East Berlin by West Germans and foreigners two years ago.

These must now submit to rigid passport and customs inspections, which includes registering the amount of Western currency brought into or taken out of East Berlin.

Members of the Allied forces in uniform so far have been exempted from these restrictions.

Allied officials had no immediate comment on Ulbricht's charges, saying the speech was being studied. If Ulbricht should decide to close East Berlin to the Allies, it probably would not appreciably heat up the Berlin situation.

Twenty years ago, Perry W. Branch was given custody of $40,000 in assets by a group of Nebraska educators.

This month, on his 65th birthday, the native Lincolnite is retiring and returning the $40,000 plus another $5 million.

As director-secretary and more recently president of the University of Nebraska Foundation, Branch has seen a lot of money go toward helping NU.

$5 Million For NU
The foundation was formed in 1936, but never had a full-time secretary until Branch was employed in 1943. In those 20 years, the assets have grown to slightly over $15 million. In addition, Branch said, the foundation has contributed more than $5 million for the university's benefit.

On Aug. 18 he officially turns over his job to the newly elected president, Harry R. Haynie. Looking back he recalls many worthwhile accomplishments.

New York (AP) — About 100 racial demonstrators got violently out of hand for the first time Wednesday at a Brooklyn construction site, and police reserves were rushed in to quell the surging, shrieking mob. Outright rioting was narrowly averted.

The flareup was brief and ended with the pickets voluntarily dispersing. But for a few moments it threatened to explode into the gravest crisis thus far in the city's hot, humid and racially tense summer.

"This proves there's no difference between New York and Alabama," cried a leader of the demonstration as he dispersed the pickets and urged them to fan through Brooklyn streets to enlist the support of every Negro they met.

Demanding Jobs
Mounted police helped press back the crowd of Negro and white demonstrators at the Downtown Medical Center in Brooklyn, where for 3 weeks pickets have been demanding more jobs for Negro and Puerto Rican construction workers.

"Our people are restless—we are not getting results," said one of the Negro leaders, the Rev. Edward Dickey, shortly before the outbreak.

Police traded punches with Negro demonstrators and two Negro women claimed to have suffered injuries in the milling throng. A patrolman and a policewoman were hurt slightly. Police officials denied the pickets' charges of deliberate brutality.

In the past 3 weeks, nearly 750 demonstrators have been arrested throughout the city, all but about 100 of them at the Brooklyn hospital site. There have been minor disorders as police bodily carried away pickets from the path of construction trucks, but no real violence.

There were more than a score of arrests in Brooklyn during the day, and 8 others at Queens and Manhattan demonstration sites.

The pickets are seeking to halt trucks and close down all publicly financed construction, unless they receive a guarantee of a 25% quota of non-white employees on building jobs.

Police Careful
Police have appeared to go out of their way in most instances to handle demonstrators with care. Nevertheless, there have been a growing number of complaints from pickets of police brutality.

In this atmosphere, Daniel P. Moynihan, an Assistant Secretary of Labor, flew from Washington. He talked with one of the leaders of the demonstration, the Rev. Gardner Taylor, a Negro clergyman, who later told news-

"He expressed great interest in the New York situation."

The demonstration got under way for the day in Brooklyn with clergymen leading pickets in prayer and hymns. Then they took their places behind barricades on a picket line. From time to time groups of demonstrators rushed into the street and lay down in front of arriving and departing construction trucks. They were arrested and carried away by the police.

Suddenly, 5 adult Negroes broke from behind barricades and threw themselves beneath a truck that had been halted by a human blockade. Three of the pickets were dragged by police from beneath the vehicle, while the other two crawled out by themselves.

As the patrol wagon drove away, a 17-year-old Negro girl lay on the ground, holding her right leg, apparently in pain. She was taken across the street to Kings County Hospital.

Crowd Inflamed
The crowd was inflamed by the incident. Demonstrators taunted police and refused to remain behind the barricades. Finally, about 75 policemen began shoving the crowd back. The police held night sticks horizontally in front of their bodies but did not use the weapons.

FBI Grabs Explosives In Fast Raid

Mandeville, La. (AP) — FBI agents swooped down on a house in a resort section near here Wednesday and seized more than a ton of dynamite and 20 bomb casings.

An informed source said the explosives were part of a cache to be used in an attack on Cuba.

But the FBI would only say that the materials were "seized in connection with an investigation of an effort to carry out a military operation from the United States against a country with which the United States is at peace."

Technically at Peace
Although the United States severed diplomatic relations with the Cuban government of Fidel Castro, the two nations — technically — are at peace.

The 20 empty 100-pound bombs, painted blue, were stored on a locked, screened-in porch of a single story dwelling house located in the Forest Glen addition to the subdivision of Lacombe Park, the FBI said.

Also on the locked porch were paraphernalia for assembling fuses, 25 pieces of primer cord, 21 commercial type percussion blasting caps and a 50 pound container of Nuodex—a gasoline thickener used to make a jelly-like substance out of gasoline commonly known as napalm.

The explosives — 12 cases of 60% dynamite, each weighing 50 pounds—were stored in a two-wheel trailer parked on the premises adjacent to the house.

Owner Unknown
The FBI declined to identify the owner of the house or to say if any arrests were made.

Announcement of the raid was first made in New Orleans by H. G. Maynor, special agent in charge of the FBI field office.

Maynor said his agents had been investigating the reported military operation for several days. A search warrant for the Lacombe Park residence was obtained earlier Wednesday from U.S. Commissioner Fritz H. Windhorst in New Orleans.

'Thoroughly Disgusted' With Normal Board, Says Gerdes

By WILLIAM B. KETTER
United Press International

State Sen. George Gerdes of Alliance said Wednesday he is "thoroughly disgusted" with the State Normal Board and posed the possibility of eliminating its coordinator post.

The Normal Board last week openly ignored faculty salary recommendations of the Legislature's Budget Committee. Gerdes is a Budget Committee member.

Earlier this week, Sen. Hal Bridenbaugh of Dakota City, Budget Committee vice chairman, rapped the board. Bridenbaugh said he is ready to come back to a special session of the Legislature, if one should be called, and probe further the board's action.

Might Save Money
Gerdes, in an interview, said two years ago he supported creation of the Normal

Board coordinator position. "But it seems now we might be better off eliminating the job and saving the state $30,000 a biennium."

The Alliance lawmaker said each of the 4 state teachers colleges "seems bent on going its own way" concerning salary schedules. "So I'm beginning to wonder if we need a coordinator."

Money appropriated for the coordinator's salary, he said, "might be better applied to equalize faculty salaries."

Dr. Freeman Decker, board coordinator, appeared before an executive session of the Budget Committee Wednesday.

Gerdes said he does not intend to investigate the board's action. "It seems to me the board has taken its stand. The budget committee was only trying to make uniform the faculty salaries paid at the different schools, nothing else."

Intent Cited
Faculty personnel at Peru and Chadron state teachers colleges, he said, are paid less than those at Wayne and Kearney. "The budget committee's intention was to correct this discrepancy."

The board decided to make a funds division on the basis of a 17-factor formula devised by Decker.

Decker's formula, Gerdes said, "only seems to continue salary discrepancies between the schools. I was thoroughly disgusted when I learned of the board's action because I don't think it was the wise thing to do."

Gerdes said he expects the board's defiance of the budget committee to result in repercussions once the Legislature's interim committee on higher education begins its work.

"I won't be at all surprised if the committee on higher education finds discrepancies between the schools," he said.

Ward Convicted

... HOSPITALIZED BY OVERDOSE

London (AP)—An Old Bailey jury convicted Dr. Stephen Ward on two vice charges Wednesday while the aging playboy lay in a coma at a London hospital suffering from an overdose of drugs.

Ward was acquitted of 3 other vice charges. Sentencing was delayed until the 50-year-old society osteopath and artist is able to appear in court.

After 4½ hours of deliberation, the jury of 11 men and one woman pronounced Ward guilty on two counts of living on the immoral earnings of prostitutes. The maximum sentence on each count is 7 years in prison.

Will appeal

Ward's legal team immediately announced that he would appeal.

The prosecution said it would bring another, unspecified charge against him at the next court session, which opens Sept. 10.

The defendant is a central figure in the John Profumo-Christine Keeler-Yevgeny Ivanov-Lord Astor affair. The repercussions still are being felt in the social and political life of Britain.

Doctors slowly gained ground in their battle to keep Ward alive.

He was found unconscious Wednesday only a short time before he was to appear in court. Justice Sir Archie Marshall sent the case to the jury, but once the verdict was in he halted further proceedings.

Sex-For-Sale

Specifically, Ward, 50, was convicted of living on the sex-for-sale activities of Miss Keeler, 21, and Mandy Rice-Davies, 18-year old blonde.

He was acquitted on these charges:

Of inciting Miss Keeler to procure a girl, then under 21, identified only as "Miss R," to have sexual intercourse with himself.

Of attempting to procure another under-age girl, "Miss X," to have unlawful sexual intercourse with a third person.

Of living wholly or in part on the earnings of prostitution during the period between Jan. 1 and June 8 this year.

Problem

Ward's absence from the courtroom presented Justice Marshall with a legal problem for which there was little precedent. The judge explained to the court:

"I propose to await the news that Stephen Ward is physically ready to appear in court.

"You will be informed, of course, of that date and I propose to come back whenever that is the position. I shall have to deal with him then and hear pleas of mitigation."

James Burge, one of Ward's lawyers, said he had no objection to the procedure outlined by the judge.

Question

Prosecutor Mervyn Griffith-Jones said there was a question of a further indictment against Ward and asked whether he might apply to have this go over into the court's next session Sept. 10.

The judge agreed and said he was not prepared to act on another indictment at this stage.

The Old Bailey jury had wrestled with the legal complexities of a case described as one of the most publicized and sordid in recent British history.

Gaining

Simultaneously, white-gowned doctors at St. Stephen's Hospital seemed to be gaining the upper hand in their dramatic struggle to keep the unconscious Ward alive. Hospital officials said they did not know what drug Ward had taken.

By using oxygen equipment, a stomach pump and other resuscitation measures they maintained his respiration and even reduced the angry purple flush of his face.

While ordering the trial to continue, the judge remarked that Ward's absence "is the result of his action by his own hand."

Burge immediately objected.

"You have merely heard certain statements. You have not heard any explanation of the circumstances and it would be wrong, therefore to assume that it is due to his own default."

No Doubt

There was no doubt that Ward was suffering from an overdose of drugs, but British newspapers and the hospital itself carefully avoided saying that Ward had tried suicide.

Under British law a suicide attempt can be determined in only one way—by a court decision based on testimony.

Furthermore, a suicide attempt constitutes a violation of British law. A person wrongfully accused of such an action has grounds for a libel suit.

Ward was found unconscious by his friend and host, Noel Howard Jones, on a living room sofa.

Jones told newsmen Ward left 12 letters—6 addressed to friends—to be mailed if the jury convicted him of the vice charges. Jones emphasized that these letters were not suicide notes and said he had passed them on to a member of Ward's legal team.

DR. WARD ... rushed to hospital.

PATIENCE NOT PATIENT AT ALL

Benton Harbor, Mich. (AP)—A Benton Harbor girl named Patience was so impatient for higher education that she enrolled in a Community College shorthand course despite the fact that she is only in the sixth grade.

Patience Armstrong, 11, Tuesday finished a 6-week shorthand course at Benton Harbor, Mich. (AP)—and, as expected by educators, her grade in the course was an "A."

Patience's teacher, Mrs. Doris Badgely, said, "she was one of my best students, in some areas she was the very best."

"Shorthand was something I'd never taken before," said Patience. "I just decided to take it."

Rise In Hospital Cost Expected To Continue

Chicago (AP)—Patients today are paying average hospital costs more than twice as high as a decade ago and the rise in expense is expected to continue.

That was the word Wednesday from the American Hospital Association which detailed the costs comparisons in hospitals, its official journal.

The AHA said the average daily cost rose from $18.25 to $36.83 in the last 10 years. The total expense of an average stay in the hospital — slightly more than a week — rose during the period from $148 to $279.

All Types Of Illnesses

The figures are based on nonfederal short-term general hospitals which admit patients with all types of illnesses or injuries.

The costs are those met by the hospitals and in some cases slightly exceed the charges made to patients, the AHA said.

The report said steadily rising labor costs were the major cause of increased expenses. A total of persons were employed short-term hospitals in 1952, 66,825 more than the previous year.

For each 100 patients short-term general hospitals employed 237 employees were "New services" which didn't exist 10 years ago also have added to the rise, said L. Crosby, associate director, "As hospitals' need more and more personnel to care for patients expected expenses continue to rise."

Other highlights of report:

—Since 1946, hospital costs, not including benefits, increased 33 nonlabor costs rose more than 200%.

—Payroll expenses are the highest item in the hospital's operating budget, accounting for nearly half of total cost.

—The outpatient department patients who do not require hospitalization has one of the busiest of hospitals, serving 100 million persons in 1952.

The 7,028 hospitals listed with the AHA total of $10,129,216,000 year to provide for 26,331,365 patients was 7.3% higher than the number of increased 1,056,630.

But one hospital reversed the general trend. Reflecting a birth rate, the number of births declined from 3,908,121 to 3,1

Youth Ordered To Help Support Man He Injured

Philadelphia (AP)—A juvenile court judge Wednesday ordered a 16-year-old boy to quit high school and go to work to help support the family of a man he ran down with an auto.

Arthur J. Brookes Jr., will start immediately as a helper for a bricklaying firm and turn half of his weekly paycheck over to Steven M. Breitenbach, 41, until Brookes reaches 21. He will earn $2 an hour.

Breitenbach, who has 3 children, was struck July 17 as he watered his lawn. He lost his right foot and suffered head and body injuries in the accident. He is a printer.

Judge J. Sydney Hoffman said if young Brookes misses one payment he faces incarceration at the State Correctional Institution. And his parents will have to forfeit a $5,000 judgment note.

The judge first sentenced the boy to the institution for assault and battery by auto and driving without a license but suspended commitment so he could "reimburse this family for the anguish you inflicted." Then he added:

"Don't think you are getting off easy. You are now a father of these 3 children (who were in court). You won't be able to marry until you are 21 because of the deductions from your salary."

The board of education agreed to let Brookes leave school and granted him a work permit.

Judge Sentences 4 Muslims To Prison

Los Angeles (AP)—Four Black Muslims were given prison terms Wednesday and 7 were placed on probation in the aftermath of a bloody riot outside the anti-white sect's temple last year.

For 6, jail terms were a condition of probation.

The 11 were convicted by an all-white jury last June 15th on a variety of charges after a record 18 days deliberation. Three others were acquitted.

The riot erupted April 27, 1962, after officers questioned two Muslims removing articles from a car. One Muslim was killed, 6 wounded, and 7 policemen were wounded.

Superior Judge David Coleman passed these sentences:

Robert L. Buice Jr., 38, one to 5 years at the Men's Correctional Institute at Chino, Calif., for resisting officers; 6 months in county jail for simple assault.

3 Counts

Arthur Coleman Jr., 27, one to 5 years at Chino for 3 counts of assaulting officers.

Fred Jingles Jr., 24, one to 5 years at Chino on each of 3 counts; 6 months in jail for assault.

Nathaniel Rivers, 37, one to 5 years at Chino on one count, 6 months in jail for assault.

Elmer Craft Jr., 30, 6 months in jail as condition of 5 years probation. Robert Lewis Roger, 19, a year in jail, 4 years on probation. William Rogers, 27, 4 years probation. Randolph Sidle, 31, one year in jail, 5 years probation.

Charles Henry Zeno, 36, 90 days in jail, 5 years probation. Monroe Elvin Jones Jr., 22, 6 months in jail, 5 years probation. Roosevelt Walker, 27, one year in jail, 5 years probation.

Concurrently

In cases of conviction on more than one count, the prison terms are to be served concurrently.

About 40 members of the nationwide anti-white sect sat in the spectators' section. They remained silent.

One defendant, William Rogers, was in a wheel-chair paralyzed from the waist down by a police bullet.

11-Man Bipartisan Unit Will Accompany Rusk

Washington (AP)—Secretary of State Dean Rusk will leave for Moscow Friday to sign the new nuclear test ban treaty. He will be accompanied by a bipartisan 11-man delegation including 6 senators.

The formal ceremony is expected to be held Monday.

The White House, announcing this, picked as senatorial delegates:

Democrats J. W. Fulbright of Arkansas, chairman of the foreign relations committee; Hubert Humphrey, Minnesota, chairman of the foreign relations subcommittee on disarmament; John Sparkman, Alabama, chairman, European affairs subcommittee of the foreign relations committee; John O. Pastore, Rhode Island, chairman of the joint atomic energy committee, and Republicans Leverett Saltonstall, Massachusetts, top Republican on the armed services committee, and George Aiken, Vermont, a ranking GOP member of the foreign relations and disarmament groups.

Notably missing were Sens. Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois, the Senate GOP leader, and Bourke B. Hickenlooper of Iowa, senior Republican on the foreign relations committee.

Their omission was not unexpected as both had indicated they did not want to go and have an open position on the treaty. But it underscored the probability the level of the Republican representation had fallen below administration desires.

Also missing was Mike Mansfield of Montana, the Senate's Democratic leader. A White House source said it was felt both Mansfield and Dirksen were needed here because of the Senate's work load.

Mansfield later told the Senate it would be "inappropriate" for him or Dirksen to go because of "a great backlog of legislation."

White House Press Secretary Pierre Salinger told newsmen a definite date for the signing has not been set. But U Thant, secretary-general of the United Nations, said at his headquarters he would be in Moscow Monday for the event.

Besides the senators, Rusk's party will include U.S. Disarmament Chief William C. Foster, Atomic Energy Commission Chairman Glenn Seaborg, U.N. Ambassador Adlai Stevenson, East-West Affairs Adviser Llewellyn Thompson and Arthur Dean, former U.S. disarmament negotiator.

A Most Unwelcome Event

By WILLIAM O. DOBLER

There was one event this week that Lincoln would have been happy to be without. It would have settled with pleasure for something other than the Dutch elm disease discovered in one of the city's fine shade trees. But the disease has been found and nothing can change that fact. It is only hoped that the infestation can be kept within reasonable bounds.

Lincoln has invested in recent years in a program of protection against the loss of the city's elms through this disease and perhaps now will come to realize some of the benefit of this action. The city's trees have been well trimmed and an extensive spraying program has been carried out. Also, the city has taken a more active part in controlling the planting of trees in public areas such as along the city streets. This has meant the planting of approved species as well as proper planting, all of which gives assurance of a more healthy growth situation for the future.

These are the ways in which the city has been protected from Dutch elm disease. It was not expected that we could completely escape the ravages of this disease but we will be most disappointed if the city loses the vast majority of its elm trees. When an elm tree is lost, everyone in the city has lost a little something.

The greatest loser, of course, is the individual on whose property the infected tree is located. Trees with a number of years behind them can be a substantial loss in many ways. For one thing, the loss of the tree means the loss of some good shade, perhaps the difference between a house that is fairly cool all through the day and one that is scorching hot.

And think of the number of times throughout the life of that tree that its shade has been a welcome addition to the family home. It has been the setting for family picnics, games and good times in general. It has been the place where one could rest a bit on a lazy Sunday afternoon and watch the antics, perhaps, of a squirrel or a family of birds. You have probably known the time, maybe many times, when the tree has served as the home for a family of birds or a nest of squirrels. Or maybe it is a tree in which your own youngsters virtually lived during many days of the summer vacations of their youth. There may still be in that tree the marks of its existence with a family of children.

A tree that grows up with a family takes a lot of abuse. A lot of the things that happen to such trees probably should be fatal to them but a family tree seems to develop a kind of immunity to mistreatment. It isn't recommended practice, for instance, to drive a long spike into a tree but you may well find one yet in the big elm in the backyard. Nor is it a good idea to choke off a limb with a tight wire but there is such a limb still thriving on the old tree. The wire has now been completely absorbed with only a kind of circular wart as evidence that it was ever there. And there are many other scars of the years that have gone by. There are the strange branch formations, for instance, that came about as the tree grew around the "house" that had been built in it a long time ago. Maybe there are even marks yet today where the ropes of a swing were tied to a limb.

That tree had to learn a lot of give-and-take if it was going to make it and it did, just as all who lived along with it learned the same thing. And it became a part of the life of those with whom it was associated, just as did so many other parts of life as it existed during those years.

It was a part of things as was the front porch, as was the pantry, the fruit cellar and the first garage you ever saw with an overhead door. Grandpa had the overhead garage door and the children thought at the time that he must be just about the richest, most carefree and luckiest man in the world. Under the shade of the old elm tree, the children would sit and contemplate the greatness of this man of the world.

All of this goes when a giant tree goes and a little more of what things were will never be again. At the same time, the property involved takes a definite loss for you don't have to be attached to any certain tree to know its value.

Any tree will filter the sunlight through to you or make the moon and stars dance at night among the rustle of its leaves. Any tree will erupt with a violent pinching to and fro in the midst of a great storm in a kind of attraction that could never be duplicated. And any tree is a thing of beauty and enjoyment just in its own right, with or without any personal history attached to it.

The property that loses a tree loses hundreds of dollars in value and the neighborhood that loses its trees takes on a totally different appearance. It is a change that we hope is kept at a minimum as a result of protective steps taken to date and an up-to-date plan of action for the future in meeting the elm infestation.

Compounded Value

Democracy Is Needed

It is an oversimplification to believe foreign aid and technical assistance of themselves will lead the lagging peoples into the van of national modernization. The Arab states provide a good example.

Upward of $1 billion in aid has been extended to them. Ideologically all are committed to an Arab unity and total modernization of their society. But repeated efforts toward unification have failed and the current failure is threatening to blow up the whole Near East.

Col. Nasser of Egypt achieved pan-Arabism on paper a few years ago. But it didn't last long. Now a successor effort has created more danger than it allayed. Syria has withdrawn and is under a tight military dictatorship. Iraq has bolted. Yemen thus far has successfully defended against becoming a part of the union. Saudi Arabia is playing hands off.

There is logic in a wholesome union. It would bring a diversity of resources into play and provide a federation big enough to cope with the central problems of progress. But there is the natural question about all unions — unite under whom?

It appears that Nasser's Egypt is qualified in many ways to lead the union. But no one else is ready to mail in their sovereignty papers. The feeling is that poverty and backwardness are undesirable, the loss of the right of self-expression is worse. It is certainly worse if it has to yield to Egypt's authoritarian socialism.

It is the weakness of authoritarian societies that they have the character of rule or ruin. This will continue to disable Nasser's plans for leadership until he learns more of the virtues of democratic action. The day of that discovery will be a day of victory for the West.

Caught Off Third Base

The Iowa State Tax commission has turned to mechanized data processing to help in its work.

Unlike Nebraska which sticks pretty close to the property tax, Iowa plays the field, emphasizing both the sales and the income tax.

By the simple logic of feeding into the processing machines the employers' record of wages paid, together with the number of income tax returns received, the commission was interested to learn that approximately 100,000 Iowa citizens had not reported or paid their income tax. Iowa has about 900,000 potential taxpayers.

The machine was implacable. If it had a citizen's salary entry and no tax return, it flashed red and blue lights and ejected the entry card into the delinquent hopper. The commission is now double checking the cards, finding the machine, by and large, quite accurate.

Besides widespread reform in Iowa it appears that the state may pick up something like $18 million which is nothing to sneeze at.

It is understandable why some citizens are against the modern age and would like to take the country back to the 19th century — back when consciences provided the only real checking system. Somehow, these new data processing machines are depriving a portion of our population of their traditional right to play games with the tax gatherer.

Nebraska, as we say, has not yet entered the sales and income tax field, but the Iowa experience counsels that a proper preliminary step is to acquire data processing machines and become skilled in their use.

It Seems Incredible

The average citizen of Nebraska must find it most strange to see a continuous battle over some phase of public power in the state. Now the many agencies of the state are engaged in a debate over who shall provide the additional power supply that will be needed in Nebraska in the years ahead. We argue about not only who shall be the supplier, but even what the need or demand will be.

This is all utterly ridiculous and the people in the public power field in this state continue to demonstrate an immaturity that is disgusting. We have public power in Nebraska because we had a concept of the public good, of the common welfare of the common man. We considered electric energy as a utility to which all the people of the state were entitled. We considered it a fundamental of living, such as water and air and dedicated ourselves to the proposition that it be denied to no one.

But all of these principles have been abandoned in recent years in the selfish pursuits of a few greedy individuals — the leaders, or so-called leaders of public power in Nebraska. They have narrowed down Nebraska's point of view to a sectional one and divided us into various economic and geographic groups. Rather than the common welfare, these power leaders have sought the promotion of special interests.

When they gather in Lincoln today as part of a committee, they should do so with no little shame because they have dirtied a very fine concept and perhaps done it irreparable harm. We seriously doubt that these men will stop until they have brought about a substantial alteration, for the worse, of the very thing to which they are supposed to be dedicated.

"How Long Do You Think He'll Keep Going On This Basis?"

Military Expected To Undercut Treaty

WASHINGTON — It has been true, ever since I can remember, that the military always tried to undercut a civilian president's steps toward disarmament and peace. In this, they have been completely bipartisan. They have tried to undercut Republican presidents just as much as they tried to undercut Democrats.

And they have received plenty of help from the war contractors and defense industries.

The success of John F. Kennedy's first step in the 1,000 mile journey toward peace will, therefore, depend in part on the military.

I remember vividly reporting on the activities of William Baldwin Shearer, paid $40,000 by Bethlehem Steel, Newport News Ship and other defense contractors, to disrupt the Coolidge Naval Conference in Geneva in 1927. The steel companies and shipyards were willing to put up what was then a very large amount of money because they didn't want arms reduction and peace. They preferred the risk of war.

And it was Admiral Joseph Reeves, chief U.S. naval adviser at Geneva, who played ball deliberately and brazenly with lobbyist Shearer.

There was also Admiral Hilar P. Jones, adviser to the London Naval Conference during the Hoover administration, who came back to testify against any limitation of 10,000-ton cruisers, though the battle of the Graf Spee during World War II showed that two 6,000-ton British cruisers could run circles around the 10,000-ton Graf Spee and put her out of action.

More recently there was the case of Eisenhower's efforts at disarmament, when Harold Stassen almost had an agreement with the Russians similar to that just initiated by Averell Harriman.

But Ike's own military undermined him. Bulganin and Khrushchev in 1957 appeared willing to go even further than the present test agreement, were even discussing the withdrawal of the Red Army from Hungary and other satellite countries.

But the U.S. military got to Nixon and John Foster Dulles, and Stassen was told to take a back seat.

How much the military had to do with sending the U-2 spy plane over Russia just on the eve of a summit conference dedicated to peace has never been definitely ascertained; it is known that the U-2 started from a U.S. military base in Turkey and refueled at another U.S. base in Pakistan.

To guard against either sabotage or honest differences from his military leaders, President Kennedy and Secretary of Defense McNamara met with the Joint Chiefs of Staff in a closed door conference last week. With one possible exception, the present chiefs of staff are considered much more reasonable men, but they have already started leaking individual dissent to friends on Capitol Hill.

U.S. In Middle Of Dispute Between India And Pakistan

WASHINGTON—One of the foremost congressional experts on foreign affairs has warned: "I would not be surprised if Pakistan pools its interests with Red China."

This shocker was uttered by a top-ranking member of the Foreign Relations Committee who is highly respected on both sides of the political aisle.

The unusually well-informed, widely travelled legislator is not an alarmist, and for that reason asked that his name be withheld. As a key legislator, he is now helping to write the four-and-a-half billion dollar foreign aid bill which could be used but is not being used to goad wayward recipients into line with our foreign policy.

The knotty problem of India vs. Pakistan is almost daily occupying the attention of both House and Senate Foreign committees, as they seek a means within the foreign aid bill to persuade India to settle the Kashmir dispute with Pakistan, before the latter angrily moves into the enemy camp.

Senante Majority Leader Mike Mansfield, who also sits on the Foreign Relations committee, says of the problem: "The aid that we're sending to India seems to be accelerating Pakistan's move toward closer ties with Red China; yet I don't know what we can do about it. I'm afraid that any punitive action to withhold funds until it settles the Kashmir dispute would merely stiffen India's resistance."

Reminding that although trouble-shooter Averell Harriman persuaded the two neighboring countries to hold talks on Kashmir last winter, no results were obtained, Mansfield said: "We realize what a good, solid ally we had for many years in Pakistan, until our tremendous foreign aid to India turned it against us. But how in hell can you get two sovereign powers to settle their disagreement, if India refuses?"

Pakistan, once our staunchest friend in Asia, signed a trade agreement with communist China earlier this year, and is negotiating a civil air agreement that would permit Red Chinese planes to land in Pakistan. Foreign Minister Z. A. Bhutto is now proposing a mutual defense pact with Red China — a possible "spite" move that has alarmed the free world.

There is little question but that Pakistan is feeling unloved, neglected and spurned by the West. Since its independence it had been extremely pro-western, and militarily allied to us by SEATO defense pact; while India was fence-sitting, non-aligned and pro-communist in its U.N. voting record.

Nevertheless, we have poured far greater amounts of military and economic aid into India than Pakistan, even after India ignored a U.N. finding favorable to Pakistan in the Kashmir dispute. Copyright, 1963, King Features Synd., Inc.

To Your Good Health

Dear Dr. Molner: Please comment on the newest method of resuscitation for suspected heart attack victims. I think it is a timed process of pressing firmly on the chest with the hands. — F.R.

Dr. Molner

This is called closed chest resuscitation. It has been developed in the last several years, but some words of warning concerning it are in order.

It is NOT for suspected heart attack victims. It is an emergency measure for use when the heart STOPS. There's a difference! The majority of people who suffer heart attacks survive.

There are many cases of the heart stopping, and being kept pumping by "massage" until it resumes normal beating.

By the open chest method, the doctor swiftly opens the chest, reaches in and squeezes the heart rhythmically about once a second. Since the valves work automatically, responding to the pressure of the blood, this squeezing keeps it flowing. In fact, that is how the heart normally works. It "beats" by contraction of the heart muscle.

The closed chest method was devised for the same purpose, but to avoid the necessity of surgery. The heart is squeezed by pressure on the sternum—the breast bone. Both hands, one atop the other, are required because good pressure is important.

In heart attacks or other forms of collapse, it is sometimes the case that the heartbeat is faint, but it is present nevertheless.

Respiration must also be provided. The lungs must supply oxygen. Therefore mouth-to-mouth respiration or some other method must be used to provide air.

The closed chest method is being taught to ambulance teams, first-aid workers and the like. It is not intended to be used by the average person.

In ordinary heart attacks the patients need, above everything else, quiet and rest. If people who misunderstand the closed chest method were to try to aid victims, the results might well be fatal to some who otherwise would recover.

Dear Dr. Molner: I have had a bullet from a rifle in the bottom of my foot since I was eleven years old. It has always bothered me when I walk quite a bit. Do you think I should have it removed? I am 67 now. I have recently heard that lead in the body is bad.—Mrs. A.D.S.

After 56 years I wouldn't worry about lead poisoning. From solid lead it's unlikely. However, I'd have the bullet removed.

Dear Dr. Molner: My friend has a bump almost the size of an egg on her side. She said the doctor told her it was a fatty tumor and as long as it did not bother her, to leave it alone. I have read that a lump of any size should be removed, and when it begins to bother you, it is too late. Who is right?—MRS. J.P.

Your friend's doctor is right. In the course of a lifetime some of us acquire a variety of lumps, bumps, knobs, warts, etc.

Some lumps are cancerous, and should be removed as soon as possible. If, with cancer, you wait for the lump to become painful or bothersome, it often is too late. The cancer has spread beyond any chance of removing all of it.

But with harmless growths—and a fatty tumor is such—there's no point in doing anything unless it is big enough to be disfiguring or a nuisance.

Sir: I have developed an itchy condition of hips and legs. I have tried soda and starch baths without success. Have you any suggestions? I am 80 and in good condition otherwise.—C.N.

I'd see a dermatologist to make sure that you haven't fallen victim to some skin ailment. If he says no, that it's just a result of the drying of skin which comes as we get older, he can suggest other remedies, among them special soaps, lanolin creams or bath oils.

Dear Dr. Molner: At the age of 16 I had my tonsils out. Now at 56 a specialist says I should have them out, because of chronic tonsillitis. Everyone tells me I am too old for such an operation. Guess I am a coward. What do you advise?—MRS. E.M.K.

I admire your candor. Occasionally ALL the tonsil tissue is not removed. Tiny tags may be left. You take out the infected portions. These tags of tonsil tissue, in subsequent years, can then enlarge again.

We are cautious about removing adults' tonsils. But if they are chronically infected and doing mischief, I prefer removal. Everybody tells you you're too old—everybody, that is, except the specialist. I cast my vote with him.

Dr. Molner welcomes all reader mail, but regrets that due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorporated in his column whenever possible. Copyright, 1963, Field Enterprises, Inc.

Test Ban Agreement

Lincoln, Neb.

The following letter has been sent to Senators Curtis and Hruska. We hope many Nebraskans will write to them, as their votes may be crucial on this vital matter.

"It is almost unbelievable that the real possibility of a nuclear test ban agreement exists. This is an indispensable step toward achieving a peaceful and stable world and removing from us all the terrible threat of nuclear catastrophe. We implore you to uphold the President in the initiative he has shown.

"His responsibility is great, but the responsibility on you, too, is great. The proposed treaty may not be all that you or we might wish. But surely your heart and your conscience will tell you that now is the time for the highest statesmanship, putting all narrowly partisan considerations aside.

"In this treaty you will be called upon to legislate for the hopes of all mankind. You are aware of the enormous difficulties in the way of securing this agreement. You know better than to think the President would submit a treaty inimical to the interests of his country. We beg you to support him in this instance, and help turn the world toward peace and away from war."

Plum Center, Neb.

I want to tell you that idea of a Goldwater administration needs a lot of thinking over by us out here in Nebraska. "Dobbin Byrd" might have something there. It sounds better for Nebraska than anything I can think of since Champ Clark and his hound dog got clobbered by William Jennings Bryan at Baltimore. That was more'n 50 years ago.

The idea of gettin' some real service out of the Nebraska delegation would please lots of the home folks. There would be a place for some stable boys as well as buddy polishers and gas lamp fillers.

Yes, sir, "Dobbin" could be on the way to puttin' Nebraska back on the map.

SOD PLOW WALKER

Lincoln, Neb.

All people are endowed with certain "inalienable rights," as Thomas Jefferson stated in the Constitution. One of these rights, Mr. Jef-erson understood and knew well. It was the right guaranteed in a fee simple title to land. Ownership was not granted in Anglo-Saxon jurisprudence but only certain rights. Anyone who thinks he owns land is mistaken, as he possesses only certain "rights" such as "peaceable possession" etc.

Possessing ownership of these rights in land by fee simple title made one a freeman. Whence comes the true freedom of a people. The world conflict is primarily one of who shall possess these rights in land.

Phrases Jefferson and our forefathers knew the real meaning of were: "The earth and the fullness thereof are the Lord's." "The land shall not be sold forever." "The home is a man's castle." And others.

Blackstone: "A law not based on divine precept is no law."

Andrew Jackson: "A Bible-reading people cannot be enslaved."

Where are rights originated? What are rights? The founding fathers knew but as a people, we have lost our way, as Gladstone said might happen.

Nations perish when the people lose their land rights.

Moslem Morning Prayer Extols Miracle Of Life

By ROBERT PETERSON
I've never felt much affinity with the Moslems, but I do now that a reader has sent me the text of their ancient prayer which is traditionally spoken each morning at sunup from towers and minarets of the Islamic world:
"Look to this day for it is life, the very life of life. In this day's brief pause lies all the verities and realities of your existence. The bliss of growth. The glory of action. The splendor of beauty. For yesterday is gone, and tomorrow is only a vision. But today well lived makes of every yesterday a dream of happiness, and every tomorrow a vision of hope."
The Moslems may seem backward to us in certain respects. But their philosophy as reflected in this salutation to the dawn suggests considerably keener insight into the miracle and promise of life than is shown by the, "Ho hum, guess I've got to get up and face another day," voiced each morning in a million American households.

The Social Security laws now permit those judged disabled to work to start drawing their pension benefits at any age. Some conservatives may worry that everyone with chronic indigestion or an ingrown toenail will now be applying for disability benefits. But judging from letters to this column, Uncle Sam is a strict judge in evaluating an applicant's alleged inability to work.
Here's a letter from a disgruntled woman of 56 who says her application was rejected because her arthritis was not deemed sufficiently severe: "Folks who want to qualify for disability benefits had better apply in a wheelchair or stretcher, because if they find out you can lift a finger they'll turn you down."

What does the law say? It says simply, "The applicant must have an injury or illness that is expected to continue indefinitely and is so severe that it makes him unable to engage in any substantial, gainful activity."
Here's a note from a retired salesman of 78 who says, "I happened to start reading your column last Spring when you discussed Dr. Paul Dudley White's views on exercise. I had been in failing health and while my doctor told me to do more walking, I saw no reason to start at my age. But your column was so convincing that I thought I would try walking a quarter of a mile daily for two weeks. Well, I felt pretty good at the end of this period, so I increased it to a mile.

"For the past several months I have been walking three miles a day, and can hardly believe it but I don't feel tired at all and have not only been feeling better but have been sleeping like a baby."
"When I went to my doctor for a check up last week he was astonished at the improvement in my physical condition. When I told him your column gave me the incentive to start exercising he was a little miffed and said, 'Some of you fellows have to read it in the newspapers before you'll take anyone's advice.'"

Jerry Atrick observes, "Just about the time a woman thinks her work is done, she becomes a grandmother."

State Will Be Represented At Mental Retardation Meet

Governor Morrison has informed President Kennedy Nebraska will send a representative to a state-federal conference on mental retardation called by the President.
Kennedy had informed Morrison that the meeting would be held to coordinate and plan a concerted attack on the problem. He said the serious condition now affects nearly 6 million persons in this country.
The conference will be held in September in the Washington area and will be planned by Dr. Stafford Warren, Kennedy's special assistant on mental retardation.
The objective of the conference will be the provision of information on implementing state-federal programs to combat mental retardation.
Morrison said in his reply to the President that he was "most anxious to cooperate with you in this matter."

Spellman Plans To Visit Omaha

Omaha (UPI)—The Aug. 18 dedication of a new Roman Catholic school will include a visit from Francis Cardinal Spellman of New York.
The cardinal will probably arrive here Aug. 17 and leave Aug. 19, a church spokesman said.
The school, near the Capehart housing project near Offutt Air Force base south of here, will be operated by the Sisters of Charity of the Blessed Virgin Mary, headquartered at Dubuque, Iowa.

Spray Holdrege Area For Corn Rootworms

Holdrege (UPI) — Aerial spraying to control corn rootworms has been under way in this area and will continue through August, according to Phelps County Agency Jerry Schmoker.
Schmoker said the heaviest rootworm infestation has been in an area just east of here. The Loomis area to the west has had fewer problems this year than in the past two years.

100-Acre Industrial Tract Zoning OKd

Zoning for a proposed 100-acre heavy industrial tract on the northeast edge of Lincoln near U.S. 6 was approved by the City-County Planning Commission Wednesday.

The tract, adjoining other heavy industry property, lies west from 84th and south from Fletcher Ave. extended.

Attorney Jack Stewart, representing Fred Berniklau and the North Side Co., which developed the Berniklau industrial tract on No. 27th, said water and sewer utilities to the tract would be developed with or without the city's help.

In The Plan

Stewart noted that the tract is designated for industrial zoning in the comprehensive plan and the zoning grant should not be deferred pending city action on water, sewer and fire protection.

The tract lies in the Stevens Creek watershed for which City Engineer Carl Fisher has said no water or sewer projects are proposed in the 1963-64 capital improvement program.

Chairman E. J. Faulkner said the commission "can't stop the zoning of land just because the city isn't willing or able to supply utilities."

Develop Own

He suggested the owners should have the opportunity to develop their own utility services, if necessary, for the plan-designated industrial tract.

In other action, the commission gave preliminary approval to proposed Trendwood Addition, a 250-lot residential subdivision south of A between 70th and 84th.

A preliminary layout of the square-mile section, including the Trendwood Addition, proposes that South St. be broken at 70th and developed as a residential street.

The city engineer reported an objection to closing South at 70th, maintaining its eastward extension was a county section-line road.

Abandoned In 1897

However, the commission was handed a legal opinion that the unopened road was abandoned in 1897 under then-existing state statutes.

Collaterally, the commission approved A-1 single-family zoning for the area between 70th and 84th, A to Van Dorn.

Other commission action—approved light industry zoning for two lots at the southeast corner of 33rd and M. Paul, requested by Sam S. Wier. The commission indicated similar action would be initiated for the remaining half-block adjoining industrial zoning.

Approved A-2 single-family residential zoning for the Earl L. Lumsden property extending from West A to South Burlington Ave. to Cochran Ave.

Approved A-1 single-family residential zoning of 33rd and M. Paul, requested by Sam S. Wier.

Approved preliminary plat of South Gate Heights First Addition on north side of Perscott from 33rd to 70th and of Hughes Second Addition near 60th and Vine.

Approved first plat of Lee's Summit at 70th and Neb. 2 and Meadow Lane 7th Addition near 84th and Vine.

Approved preliminary plat of Valley View Addition near 31st and Pioneer Road and Wedgwood Manor Second Addition near 31st and Sandalwood Drive.

Deferred preliminary plat of Rosemont First Addition near 72nd and Leighton for further engineering study on electrical utility routing, but approved the plat's street layout proposing a 14-foot offset in Leighton for development as a residential street.

Planners Turn Down Canopy Amendment

The City-County Planning Commission Wednesday unanimously rejected a proposed zoning code amendment that would permit canopies of service stations and other drive-in businesses to encroach into the required front yard areas.

The City Council, which has permitted 3 encroaching canopies by zoning code waivers, requested the amendment draft.

It would permit the encroaching canopies in local business, highway business and commercial, and commercial districts.

Upward Slope

It would permit 3 square feet of canopy area for each foot of property frontage with a minimum height of 10 feet at the building line and 22 feet at the property line.

Commission discussion indicated an illegal service station canopy had been constructed at 48th and Cleveland, but was ignored by the city.

Later, the council waived zoning requirements to permit encroaching canopies at 10th and J 33rd and Holdrege and on West O.

"Incredible" Handling

Eldridge Lovelace, a Harland Bartholomew planning consultant, termed Lincoln's handling of zoning variances as "almost incredible."

"There's been almost a wholesale grant of variances rather than those just for unusual or hardship cases," he said. "None of these variances would have been granted in other cities, particularly on the irrational basis followed by your city fathers."

Canopies are "offensive and obnoxious" near residential areas, he said. "Nothing can be done about those approved, but I would strongly urge that the City Council not grant any more."

Also recommending against the zoning amendment, Planning Director Douglas Brogden said the legalizing of encroaching canopies into the front yard would lead to other pressure for variances and even for building encroachments into the required front yard areas.

Accelerated Mail Service To Start

Lincoln today joins more than 150 major cities receiving the Post Office Department's new 4-hour mail service.

Robert M. Huse, Post Office director of customer relations, will institute the Accelerated Business Collection and Delivery program during a public affairs luncheon sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce.

Letters deposited in collection boxes bearing the distinctive ABCD decal by 11 a.m. will be delivered by 3 p.m. within the area between M and Q and 7th and 14th streets, and along O St. east to 27th.

While in Lincoln, Huse will swear in Kenneth Lewis as Lincoln postmaster. Lewis, a former city councilman, has been acting postmaster since March 31, 1962. His appointment by President Kennedy was confirmed last week by the Senate.

SUPPORT URGED FOR DIAGONAL'S ROUTE

The City-County Planning Commission Wednesday was urged to support the comprehensive plan's route for the Northeast Diagonal until and unless another route is proven better.

Alliance Summer Field Day Slated

Alliance—Plans are complete for the University of Nebraska Box Butte Experiment Station Summer Field Day here Tuesday, August 6, according to Paul Ehlers, station superintendent.

The program will begin at 10 a.m. with tours of 6 different field experiments followed by a noon luncheon provided by the Alliance Chamber of Commerce.

Robert Gaston, secretary-manager of the Alliance Chamber of Commerce, will welcome those attending. Pearl Emigan, director of the State Department of Agriculture, will speak on "New Crops and Uses." James Pichon and Delbert Lane of the university staff at Lincoln will discuss tractor fuels.

Commission Chairman E. J. Faulkner said the commission has scheduled a joint meeting with the County Board and County Advisory Committee for Sept. 17 to discuss the proposed county zoning code.

Replacing Bridge

Holdrege (UPI) — Pilings are being placed in the Platte River bed on the Holdrege-Elm Creek Highway, Nebraska 183, to replace the one-way bridge which now carries traffic over the river. Weather permitting, the structure should be completed by December.

No Encroachment

"The city should not permit any building encroachments into the presently proposed route, or the ultimately best route may be ruled out," he added.

Atheist Won't Be Protected In Kansas

Stockton, Kan. (P) — The Baltimore woman atheist who got Bible reading and prayers in public schools outlawed by a United States Supreme Court decision will have to do without police protection when she comes to this northwest Kansas town next month.

Mrs. Madalyn J. Murray, who plans to establish an atheist colony on a ranch near Stockton, wrote Mayor Charles Waller July 26 saying widespread hostility had been expressed.

Mayor Waller made public Wednesday a letter he sent Mrs. Murray refusing the request because "we are inclined to believe your presence here will go unnoticed."

A suit by the Maryland woman resulted in the Supreme Court ruling outlawing Bible readings and prayer recitations in Baltimore schools. Early in July she announced she was leaving Baltimore to establish an atheist colony on a ranch owned by Carl Brown, 77-year-old former Kansas state legislator and self-described atheist and nudist. Various leaders and groups in the area vigorously criticized the proposed colony.

July Bank Clearings Exceed $56.2 Million

Lincoln's two downtown banks Wednesday reported that July 1963 bank clearings totaled $56,259,967.

This compares with $50,402,296 for the same month in 1962.

The total for this year, January through July, is $380,471,025. The 1962 7-month total was $245,309,953.

Americans Hunt No. Korean Infiltrators Along Imjin River

Seoul, Korea (AP)—Spotlights Wednesday night illuminated the banks of the Imjin River where reinforced U.S. Army patrols searched for North Korean Communist suicide squads.

Soldiers of the 1st Cavalry and 7th Infantry Division took some solace in the news that the lives of 3 dead buddies had been avenged. Two were killed in an ambush Monday and the third in a brushfire fight Tuesday.

"Ballistic tests have proven conclusively that sub-machine guns taken from the two North Koreans killed Tuesday afternoon are the same used in the Monday morning ambush attack," the U.N. Command spokesman said.

Suicide Squad

Two North Korean soldiers moved down by U.S. soldiers wielding M60 machine guns Tuesday were part of the same suicide squad that penetrated South Korea at least 6 miles.

They were carrying U.S. currency and armed with Russian automatic weapons and hand grenades.

Brig. Gen. Charles Pershing Brown of McAlester, Okla., acting commander of the 1st Cavalry Division, was surprised at the discovery of ballistic experts that groove markings on the lead slugs fired by the captured communist guns matched those taken from the bodies of the dead soldiers.

Stakeout Unit

Brown had about decided that the infiltrator group which ambushed the jeep was one which had been fired on by a stakeout squad south of the demilitarized zone just before the ambush, then escaped to the north.

Increased enemy activity along the 18½ mile front patrolled by the cavalry led Brown to order searchlights to brighten the area. He also ordered out heavier patrols and a power boat loaded with armed soldiers to look into coves along the river banks. Jeeps may no longer travel alone.

"There must be at least two vehicles in every detail and we've started riding shotgun throughout the area," Brown said.

Spray Planes Fight Disease In Skopje

Skopje, Yugoslavia (AP)—Airplanes flew low over the ruins of Skopje Wednesday spraying the quake-shattered city with chemicals to kill disease-bearing mosquitoes and flies.

The government ordered the spray planes into the air as cases of dysentery began breaking out among the 100,000 survivors still in the city after the disastrous earthquake of 6 days ago.

Outside the destroyed area, at Katlanovo, an isolation hospital was opened to handle all cases of infectious diseases.

Earth Still Stirs

Nearly a week after the worst natural disaster in Yugoslavia's history, the troubled earth under Skopje still stirred.

In the past 24 hours new tremors gave chilling notice that the threat of new quakes remained.

Here and there a half demolished wall left standing shook to the ground as the tremors flickered across the Skopje wasteland. But no injuries or major new damage was reported.

The French team of disaster specialists who located many live survivors under the earthquake ruins left for home.

Final Checks

The 8-man group equipped with sound detectors that can pick up a heartbeat under 15 feet of solid stone made final checks at rubble heaps Tuesday night. Their sensitive machines found nothing.

But at Kumanovo, 20 miles northeast of this ancient Macedonian capital, a force of 200 Americans continued their mercy work.

They were the doctors, corpsmen, drivers and technicians of the 8th Evacuation Field Hospital who were flown in from West Germany, last Sunday.

Veterans of earthquake disaster—they helped after the great earthquake in Iran last fall—they volunteered for the Yugoslav job, their leader Lt. Col. George C. Santos of New Bedford, Mass., said.

Cheers Raised

Their arrival raised cheers in Yugoslavia. Newspapers and radio network programs devoted wide space and time to accounts of the hospital unit's work.

An American Embassy official commented "There's no question that the presence of this mercy mission here has done more to raise American prestige among Yugoslavs than any other thing in years."

The Soviet Union cabled expressions of concern and sent some supplies.

Ag Dept. Worried About French Beef

Washington (AP) — The Agriculture Department expressed concern Wednesday over projected shipments of French cattle which it said might introduce the foot-and-mouth disease into the North American continent.

The department said in a statement it has received information that groups of U.S. and Canadian cattle breeders are planning to ship cattle from France to the French islands of St. Pierre and Miquelon, adjacent to the east coast of Canada, and to the Island of Eleuthera in the Bahamas. The shipments, it said, are scheduled for August or September.

The department said it opposes the proposed movement because there is foot-and-mouth disease in France. This country has no jurisdiction over the island or their imports.

Both the Mexican Department of Agriculture and the Canadian Ministry of Agriculture share the department's concern over the proposed movements of potentially dangerous cattle so close to the susceptible herds and flocks of North America, the statement said.

"Any occurrence of foot-and-mouth disease, one of the most dreaded diseases of animals, of an off shore island would pose an immediate threat of its spread to Canada, the United States, Mexico and other countries of the region."

This country has spent large amounts of money and maintained a strict watch on its livestock industry to prevent the disease from getting a foothold in this country. When the disease appeared in Mexico in 1946, the United States cooperated in an eradication program, which cost this country alone more than $35 million.

The Canadian government eradicated an outbreak of the disease there in 1952.

SKY-HIGH FLAME

Flames leaped several hundred feet into the air as a truck caught fire with 7,000 gallons of propane gas in North Memphis, Tenn., Wednesday. Police immediately evacuated the area for fear of an explosion from the gas still in the truck and fire. The driver was seriously burned and another man taken to the hospital.

Labor Dept. Files $2,800 Wage Suit

The U.S. Department of Labor filed a $2,800.00 suit in Federal District Court Wednesday against Hyman B. Zelen, doing business as Bankers Mate Pen Co.

The department alleges Zelen failed to pay minimum wages and overtime to 5 employees as required by the Fair Labor Standards Act.

The judgment sought is for wages allegedly owed to the employees.

Reward For Python

Cape Town (AP) — A South African reptile collector is offering a reward for the return of a lost pet—a 34 pound, 6-ft. python. R. J. Visser says he misses his snake.

U.N. Slaps Limited Arms Embargo On Portugal

United Nations, N.Y. (AP) — The U.N. Security Council slapped a limited arms embargo Wednesday on Portugal and urged the regime to take immediate steps toward granting freedom to its African territories.

By an 8-0 vote, with 3 abstentions, the 11-nation council approved an amended resolution supported by 52 African nations. The abstainers were the big 3 NATO allies of Portugal—the United States, Britain and France. Then the council turned its attention to racial segregation policies (apartheid) in South Africa. The council was requested by the African nations to take up both the Portuguese territories and the racial segregation issue when it convened 9 days ago.

'Domestic Matter' Immediately, South Africa served notice it would not take part in the debate on what it contends is a domestic matter.

A message from South African Foreign Minister Eric Louw read to the council denied the African contention that his country's white supremacy policy is threatening world peace.

Louw said it was the African nations who are planning and financing the training of military units in "sabotage and guerrilla war tactics for use in South Africa." He described the African move in the council as "an ill-judged and unjust attack."

Dr. John Karefa-Smart, foreign minister of Sierra Leone, led off the attack in the council on the regime of Prime Minister Hendrik Verwoerd. He demanded that the council impose an embargo on arms and oil shipments to South Africa, as recommended by a U.N. special committee investigating racial segregation in that country.

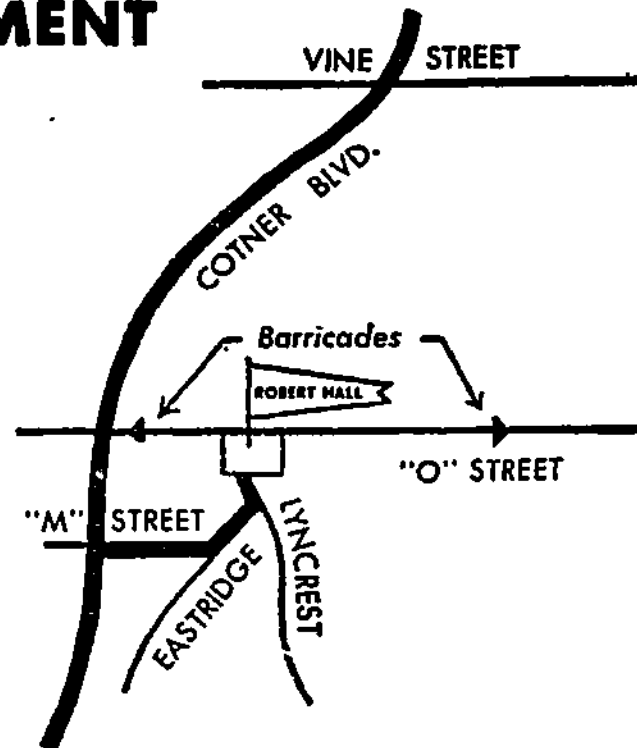

He asserted that unless South Africa is compelled to change its policies "an unparalleled explosion" will take place on the African continent.

The decision on Portugal was taken at a morning session where ambassador Adlai E. Stevenson declared after the vote that the United States agreed with much of the substance of the approved resolution, but objected to some of its language.

Public Hearing On County Budget Draws Just 3

Only 3 persons appeared Wednesday at the public hearing on Lancaster County's proposed budget for the 1963-64 fiscal year. Former Commissioner Chris Kuhner asked the board if it planned to raise the mill levy from the 4.50 mills which has been maintained since 1958.

Quigley 'Glad' To Talk Money With Morrison

Legislative Fiscal Analyst John Quigley said Wednesday he would be glad to visit with Gov. Frank Morrison about budget matters if the chief executive so desires, but added he does not think such a visit should be based on justifying his competency to the governor.

When the State Board of Equalization set the state levy at 9.795 mills earlier this week, Morrison challenged the accuracy of the estimated 9.1 mills which the fiscal analyst staff had reported as the probable state levy for this year.

The governor asked State Tax Commissioner Forrest Johnson to bring Quigley over to the Governor's Mansion for a conference, declaring, "I want to know whether this fellow's serving any useful purpose for the state, or wasting the taxpayers' money."

Flood Control Is Studied By Wahoo Group

Lincoln Star Special

Wahoo — A fundamental study of small watershed planning was presented to about 60 Saunders County farmers and businessmen Wednesday night by state Soil Conservation Service officials.

The SCS leaders presented a preview of planning for the Cottonwood Conservancy District, now awaiting authorization and the only organized move to combat flooding in Saunders County.

Farm owners expressed interest in controlling flood waters with small watershed structures, but continued to voice objection to Army Corps of Engineers structures. Saunders County voted against participation in the Salt-Wahoo Watershed District which would have provided two Corps structures and extensive levee work on Wahoo Creek.

Recent floods caused damage estimated at nearly $1 million in Saunders County.

Human Equality Day Proclamation Signed

Human Equality Day will be observed Sunday in Nebraska, according to a proclamation signed Tuesday by Gov. Frank Morrison.

He chose the date, Aug. 4, to coincide with the nationally observed Emancipation Day on the recommendation of the recently appointed Human Rights Committee.

Father James Stewart of Omaha, chairman of the Human Rights Committee, urged the observance of Human Equality Day in churches, homes and public events.

according to County Clerk Carl Hartman's figures.

Triumling However, Harlan explained that whatever trimming is done would lower it some.

The largest single increase would be in the engineering department to take care of the estimated $240,000 flood damage to roads and bridges during the June flood.

According to County Engineer Hugh Dillon, the special half-mill levy set by the commissioners last year for a special highway and road fund would be increased to .653 mills this year.

He pointed out that the total damage amounts to one mill, and since the county can't depend on what the federal government may allow or when the county would receive it, the repair work must be considered in the budget.

Setting back 6 months some of the work proposed in the adopted road program and raising the mill levy are the only means of taking care of the emergency damage, Dillon said.

'Endorsed' Joe R. Seacrest, representing the Lincoln Chamber of Commerce streets and highways committee, told the board that the chamber "endorses" the county's philosophy of stretching out the program "so it doesn't hit the taxpayer so much and increasing the mill levy to take care of this extraordinary emergency."

Kuhner again this year urged that the commissioners use the county inheritance tax fund to lower the levy, and the board again explained that $800,000 of this fund was designated by voters to be used for the convalescent hospital.

Kuhner, at last year's public hearing on the 1962-63 budget, voiced disapproval of the hospital and urged use of inheritance tax funds to lower the levy.

'Small End of Horn' Leo Bartunek told the board that he felt that the "poor and needy or those on welfare and relief are getting the small end of the horn."

He emphasized that salary raises are always considered for county employees due to the rising cost of living, but the fact that the cost of food and other necessities for the relief or welfare recipient is also increasing is ignored.

"The relievers are more entitled to consideration than the non-relievers," Bartunek added.

Harlan told Bartunek that both the Westview and relief budget request are up considerably over last year's expenditures.

The board has until next Tuesday to adopt the budget and set the mill levy. According to law, the budget must be adopted by the first Tuesday in August.

POSTCARD

The road descended from the clear pine tree hills. And I drove out onto the long plain where Salamanca lay, all golden beige in the late afternoon Spanish sun, a long side the river Tormes.

There were chatty women doing the home laundry in the river, near where the Romans bridged the bubbling cold water with magnificent arches. (They built without cement—stone pressing stone.)

It was the siesta hour. The streets were nearly empty. Most of Salamanca slept behind thick, cool walls and in shaded, flowery patios.

European learning that rivaled Bologna in Italy, Coimbra in Portugal, Or Paris and Oxford.

Hernan Cortez went to school here before fortune led him to golden Mexico and fame beside the lakes at Tenochtitlan. (So did William O'Dwyer, the former Mayor of New York and later Ambassador to Mexico.)

I got parked in one of the narrow streets—nearly all Spanish streets were made for donkey traffic of the Middle Ages. Fortunately, Spain has not had enough money to tear down and rebuild in these restless, rebuilding days.

The ancient quarters of these Spanish towns stand as they did when knights clattered over the flagstones. When Crusaders rode through with strange language and waving banners.

In the siesta afternoon, it seems that any darkened archway could give forth a procession of the Inquisition. The heretics dragged along in clanking chains with crucifixes held before their eyes.

The Spanish carved grandly in stone. Their architecture at its finest is in the Plaza Mayor.

You enter through arched gateways. It is a great, flat, paved square. Entirely surrounded by beige stone buildings all of equal height. Balconies and with shuttered windows—and much of it topped (heaven help us) with that great despoiler of skyline, TV aerials.

Underneath, completely surrounding the open square, is a cool, shaded promenade of arches and stone pillars. There are shops on the inner side. In the evening, they put little tables around the square. And all Salamanca comes to walk and sit and sip little colored drinks.

Most of the splendid stone carving was done at the university—the facade is so richly encrusted that there is no flat stone left.

It was here that Fray Luis de Leon lectured. His writings 400 years ago on "The Names of God," are considered some of Spain's finest works. Fray Luis saw God in the streams and the fields. The growing grain of the plain and the autumn fruit.

It was a dangerous age for such things. The Holy Office of the Inquisition jailed him in Valladolid. They exhorted him to confess being a heretic. Fray Luis stayed there 5 years.

He was released and went back to the lecture room. He looked around at the students. At the old, unchanging city of Salamanca. And he began: "Dicebamus hesternum die—As we were saying yesterday—"

Fifth Graders Learn To Analyze News

Bart O'Connor, a young, top-flight teacher of elementary school children from New York who was obtained for the summer by the University of Nebraska to lecture is fast turning his Lincoln fifth graders into newspaper readers and critical thinkers.

The special university demonstration class at Bancroft school is being held to show Nebraska teachers what can be done to inspire youngsters at the 10 to 12-year old age level.

Each day the grade school students, most of whom are considered progressive learners, read The Lincoln Star and discuss the contents for at least two hours every day. Experienced Nebraska teachers observe.

O'Connor calls the demonstration class a "study of government," and using the Socratic method of teaching makes each student defend his opinion and reach rational conclusions.

O'Connor said it appears that youngsters of this age are quite ready to discuss such terms as conservative, liberal and radical as they are applied to Nebraska and national leaders.

A few of O'Connor's observations of the Nebraska young people

"In the beginning of the summer they did not really know the meaning of democracy, but did have an intense desire to understand it and how it can be nurtured.

"Communism for them was something bad, but equated only with the Russian government, and they could not until after 7 weeks of work tell you why it is bad.

—They did have a vivid and accurate understanding of what a nuclear war would mean, but seemed at first reluctant to talk about it. "I find that many of their parents refuse to discuss it with them, and I suspect this is the reason why they repress it," he said.

"Surprisingly I find that they are very interested in the much-discussed 'population explosion' and automation," O'Connor said. "They understand, in general, what the terms mean, but are not quite sure how it will affect them and do not fully appreciate the affluence of the Midwest they share."

O'Connor said he finds the youngsters quite ready to discuss their own future place in governmental affairs.

"I have tried to show the Nebraska teachers that instruction in the democratic process can and must be a creative one," he said. "It is hard work to get to their level and it often means getting down on your hands and knees to help them make their wall maps and exhibits and taking them to meet their state senator."

"It means reading the newspapers and news magazines even more carefully than the children do, and helping them come to sound conclusions in open forum rather than lecturing to them and telling them that 'this is so,' and 'that is so' without discussing many sides and facets."

O'Connor is on leave for 8 weeks from the Clara H. Carlson primary school in New York City.

Nebraska To Participate In U.S. Senate Youth Program

State Education Commissioner Floyd A. Miller said Wednesday Nebraska will participate in the 1964 U.S. Senate Youth Program.

Two Nebraska high school students, selected by Miller, will receive an all-expense trip to Washington under the program.

The program was created by the William Randolph Hearst Foundation for outstanding high school students to help broaden their knowledge and understanding of Congress and the legislative process.

It is also to demonstrate the importance of a freely elected legislature in the perpetuation of an effective Democratic system of government and to dramatize in particular the crucial role the Senate performs in the maintenance of our government.

The internship program, scheduled for Jan. 27-31, will include a visit with Nebraska senators, a session with the President and members of his cabinet, and meetings with other legislative and government leaders.

Miller said he will base his selection of students on recommendations of a committee named by him from the 4 officers elected by the Nebraska Association of Student Councils. This organization is sponsored by Dr. John Lux of the University of Nebraska and will hold its annual meeting in Scottsbluff on Nov. 9.

The 1963 representatives from Nebraska were Cindy Hardin and Ronald Pfeifer, both of Lincoln.

Six applicants for embalming licenses and 7 for funeral directing licenses successfully completed their examinations, July 23 and 24, according to the State Department of Health's Bureau of Examining Boards.

Those qualifying for Nebraska embalming licenses:

John Herrmann, McCook; Richards, Jewett; Thayer, Richard; Kruppa, Auburn; Lawrence, Volando Jr., Safford; Robert, Hoch, Huxford; and Donald Krieger, St. Francis, Kan.

Those qualifying for Nebraska funeral directing licenses:

Paul Ashford, Omaha; Ron McManis, Aurora; Donald Miller Jr., York; Donald Mott, Newman Grove; Ronald Powley, Pender; Eugene Hays, North Platte; and Lawrence Volando Jr., Safford.

McNAMARA REASSURES WEST GERMANS

Bonn, Germany (AP) — Defense Secretary Robert S. McNamara was reported to have assured West German leaders Wednesday the United States plans no reduction of its military effort in Europe in view of the limited test ban accord with Britain and the Soviet Union.

Informal sources said there was no discussion of possible American troop withdrawals from Europe in McNamara's talks with leading figures of the West German government.

McNamara and West German Defense Minister Kai-

Uwe von Hassel conferred on strategy and weapons research within the North Atlantic Treaty Organization (NATO). Gen. Friedrich Foertsch, West Germany's top soldier, joined them.

McNamara later called on Chancellor Konrad Adenauer, who is to step down in the fall, and Adenauer's scheduled successor, Economics Minister Ludwig Erhard.

One of McNamara's main jobs was to discuss the agreement under which West Germany spends up to $700 million a year on military goods and services in the United States. This offsets the dollar outflow due to American military expenditures in Germany. The agreement is up for renewal.

Washington wishes West Germany to spend even more in the United States, to help stop the drain on the American gold reserve. The informants said the Americans are hopeful this could be done.

Neither West German nor

American officials would say what products McNamara is trying to get the West Germans to buy.

The sources said there was also discussion of cooperation on new weapons, especially a tank the West Germans have designed for use in the 1970s. Britain also has an interest in future tank construction, the sources added.

U.S. RECOGNIZES JUNTA

Washington (AP) — The United States announced Wednesday that it is recognizing the new military junta of Ecuador, which ousted former president Carlos Julio Arosemena July 11.

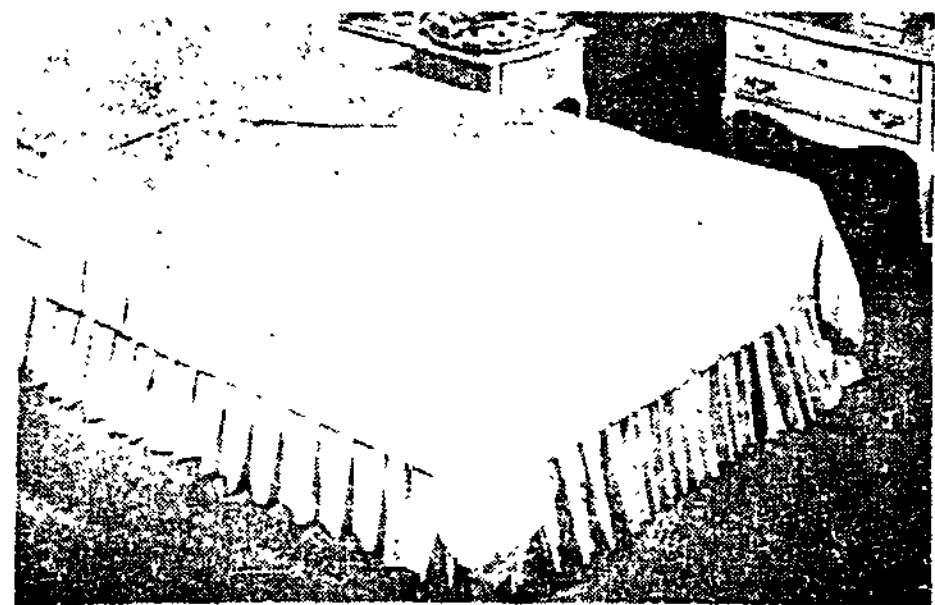

In making the announcement, the State Department said the United States disapproves of military seizures instead of democratic constitutional processes in establishing governmental rule. It applauded the junta's promise to hold free elections in the future.

The United States thus became the 18th country to recognize the Ecuadorian junta, and the fifth among hemisphere nations to do so.

A September Bride-Elect Honored

One of the many pre-nuptial courtesies for Miss Judy Peterson whose marriage to Donald Stokes will be solemnized on Saturday, Sept. 14, was the luncheon and crystal shower on Wednesday when Mrs. John E. Van Bloom, her daughter, Miss Gretchen Van Bloom; Mrs. M. Duncan Sowles and Mrs. Sowles' daughter, Mrs. David Calhoun of Governor's Island, N.Y. who was a hostess in absentia entertained at the home of Mrs. Van Bloom.

FUN NEWS IN SUBURBIA

EASTRIDGE

Another busy month has slipped away and before we realize it, autumn will be here — autumn, of course, for the younger generation — fall house cleaning for mothers, and the beginning of a new football season for everyone.

All of this, of course may be a bit in the future and since most of our news this week concerns the end of July, we had best put away our fall thoughts till another day and concentrate on our numerous summer guests and parties.

Visitors arriving on Tuesday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Allen Wilson were Mrs. Wilson's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Farris Harland of Canton, Ill.

Mr. and Mrs. Harland will be spending several days as the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Wilson and their son Bill, before returning to their Illinois home.

Eastridge residents who were mighty busy last Sunday entertaining several members of their family at a family reunion at their home were, Dr. and Mrs. Hulbert Paulson.

The guests of honor for the day were Dr. Paulson's brother-in-law and sister and family from Park Forrest, Ill. Mr. and Mrs. Warren George and Karen and Linda. Also joining in on the festivities were Dr. Paulson's mother, Mrs. Pauline Paulson and his brother and sister-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Paulson and Laurel of Omaha.

There also seems to be some beach and boat enthusiasts in Eastridge for it seems that Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Miller have been spending quite a bit of their free time at Capitol Beach boating and water sking.

Their guests for last Wednesday were Mr. and Mrs. Bill Avey and on Thursday, Mr. and Mrs. Miller entertained Mr. and Mrs. Jack Hill who are departing soon for their new home in Georgia.

A recent visitor in Eastridge and at the home of Dr. and Mrs. Gordon Pejsar was their nephew, Max Linder of Plattsmouth.

Max arrived at the Pejsar home a week ago last Sunday and was, no doubt, royally entertained by his three cousins, Steve, Gregg, and Doug.

Returnees from a week's vacation in Sycamore, Ill., were Mr. and Mrs. Denny Cochran and their children, JoAnn and Jeff.

While in Sycamore, the Cochran family were the guests of Mrs. Cochran's brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Dean Oehlerking.

The Cochran family also managed to squeeze in enough time for a visit to the Chicago Zoo before returning home.

Miss Julie Sonderegger, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William A. Sonderegger, will celebrate her seventh anniversary tomorrow with 14 friends at a luncheon at Roberts Park.

This, however, is not all of the birthday celebrating for that evening, Julie's grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Nispel will be dinner guests at the Sonderegger home.

On Saturday, Mr. and Mrs. Sonderegger and Dr. and Mrs. Gordon Pejsar will be motoring to Omaha where they will be the dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Sim before viewing Cleopatra.

Entertaining last Saturday evening at their Eastridge home were Mr. and Mrs. Thomas McCalla who had as their guests of honor, Dr. and Mrs. F. L. Duley of Pakistan.

Dr. and Mrs. Duley are former Lincolinites who are now residing in Pakistan where Dr. Duley is associated with the University in Peshawar.

Dr. and Mrs. Duley left Lincoln last Tuesday to begin their journey home.

Talk Of The Town

It well could be that you may never have heard of Broomfield, Colo., unless of course, you are familiar with the territory around Boulder.

Broomfield, however, is very much on the map—at least since Sunday, July 7, when the town dedicated its brand new library—the Mamie Eisenhower library. Libraries are very nice things to have, but what really put Broomfield out in front in the library parade was the fact that former President Dwight D. Eisenhower and the library's namesake — Mamie Eisenhower, were on hand for the dedication.

All this would not interest Lincoln people so much if it were not for the fact that Dr. and Mrs. Stanley Kirkhoff were host and hostess at a reception at their home following the dedication ceremonies. Mrs. Kirkhoff, in case your memory needs refreshing, is the former Jean Leadley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Leadley of Lincoln—and Gamma Phi Beta at Nebraska. Mrs. Kirkhoff, as you might guess, serves on the library board, and was exceedingly active in the new library project.

Away from Broomfield and back to Lincoln where the guest book has been replenished with names of current guests plus the names of those who will be arriving at a later date.

Monday brought Mrs. Robert McNutt and her four daughters, Lisa, Marilyn, Clarke and Diana Kilbourne from Santa Barbara, Calif. to Lincoln where they are the guests of Mrs. McNutt's parents Mr. and Mrs. F. Pace Woods.

The five some plans to spend several days in Lincoln before going on to Madeline Island where they will spend a few weeks at the summer home of Mr. and Mrs. Woods.

The parties for Mrs. McNutt began the day following her arrival. And the Tuesday luncheon hostesses were Mrs. Clarke W. Faulkner and Mrs. Harold Osborn who entertained at the home of Mrs. Faulkner. The guest list included the members of a bridge club to which Mrs. McNutt belonged while residing in Lincoln.

On the calendar for Friday evening is the canapè party and supper for which Mr. and Mrs. John W. Stewart will be host and hostess at their home, complimenting Mrs. McNutt. The members of a bridge club, to which Mrs. McNutt formerly belonged, and their husbands will compose the guest list.

Expected sometime in the very near future are Capt. Mark W. Woods, USN, Mrs. Woods—their four daughters, Jorie (short for Marjorie) Shauna, Rondi and Pace—and their twin sons, Mark and Robert.

Capt. and Mrs. Woods and their children will spend a week in Lincoln, the guests of Capt. Woods' parents, Mr. and Mrs. Pace Woods, and are stopping off en route from Newport News, Va., where the navy officer has been stationed, to Port Hueneme, Calif., where Capt. Woods will be deputy director of a new guided missile complex.

Another guest, also from California, is Miss DeDe Cochran of Salinas, Calif. Miss Cochran, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Cochran (Betty Orme), is a guest at the home of Mrs. E. W. Orme, but also is visiting her grandmother, Mrs. W. S. Cochran, and her aunt, Helen Cochran Teal.

Back home again are Mr. and Mrs. A. Craig O'Brien who returned Monday evening from Madeline Island where they had been spending a summer holiday.

And speaking of Madeline Island—we hear that two members of the young set—Linda Osborn and Tedda Walls are at Madeline—the guests of Mrs. Lee Metcalfe.

Afternoon Wedding

White summer blossoms appointed the altar of Westminster Presbyterian Church in Eugene, Ore., on Saturday afternoon, July 27, for the marriage of Miss Mary Jane Cirkse, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Cirkse of Lincoln, to Quentin A. Holmes, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Holmes of Eugene. The lines of the 2.30 o'clock service were read by the Rev. David B. White.

Miss Kay Cirkse of Lincoln, as her sister's maid of honor, and Miss Judith Johnson, Seattle, Wash., the bridesmaid, wore sheaths of pale pink satin complemented by full overskirts of organza. Pink illusion hats, and bouquets of pink roses and white carnations completed their costumes.

Serving his brother as best man was Robert Holmes of Eugene, and seating the guests were William Cirksena of Washington, D.C., brother of the bride, and Rod McBroom.

For her wedding gown, the bride chose white silk organza smoothed over tulle. Petal appliques of imported lace dotted with seed pearls framed the shoulder-wide neckline of the long-sleeved basque, and the applique motif was repeated on the bell skirt, which was caught into back fullness and extended into a cotillion train. A whimsy cap of silk blossoms and pearls held to the head her draped veil of Italian, embroidered organza, and she carried white roses and stephanotis.

Mr. and Mrs. Holmes will reside in Eugene, where the bridegroom, a graduate of the University of Oregon, is studying for a Ph. D. degree in physics. The bride attended Hastings College where she is a member of Sigma Tau Sigma.

Reception Planned For Anniversary

In celebration of the 25th wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Newkirk, their son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Newkirk Jr., will be host and hostess at a reception on Sunday evening Aug. 4, at their home. The guests have been invited for 7 o'clock.

Mr. Newkirk has been principal of the Union College Academy for a number of years.

Annual Banquet

The annual banquet for seniors and alumnae of the Lincoln General Hospital School of Nursing will be held next Saturday evening.

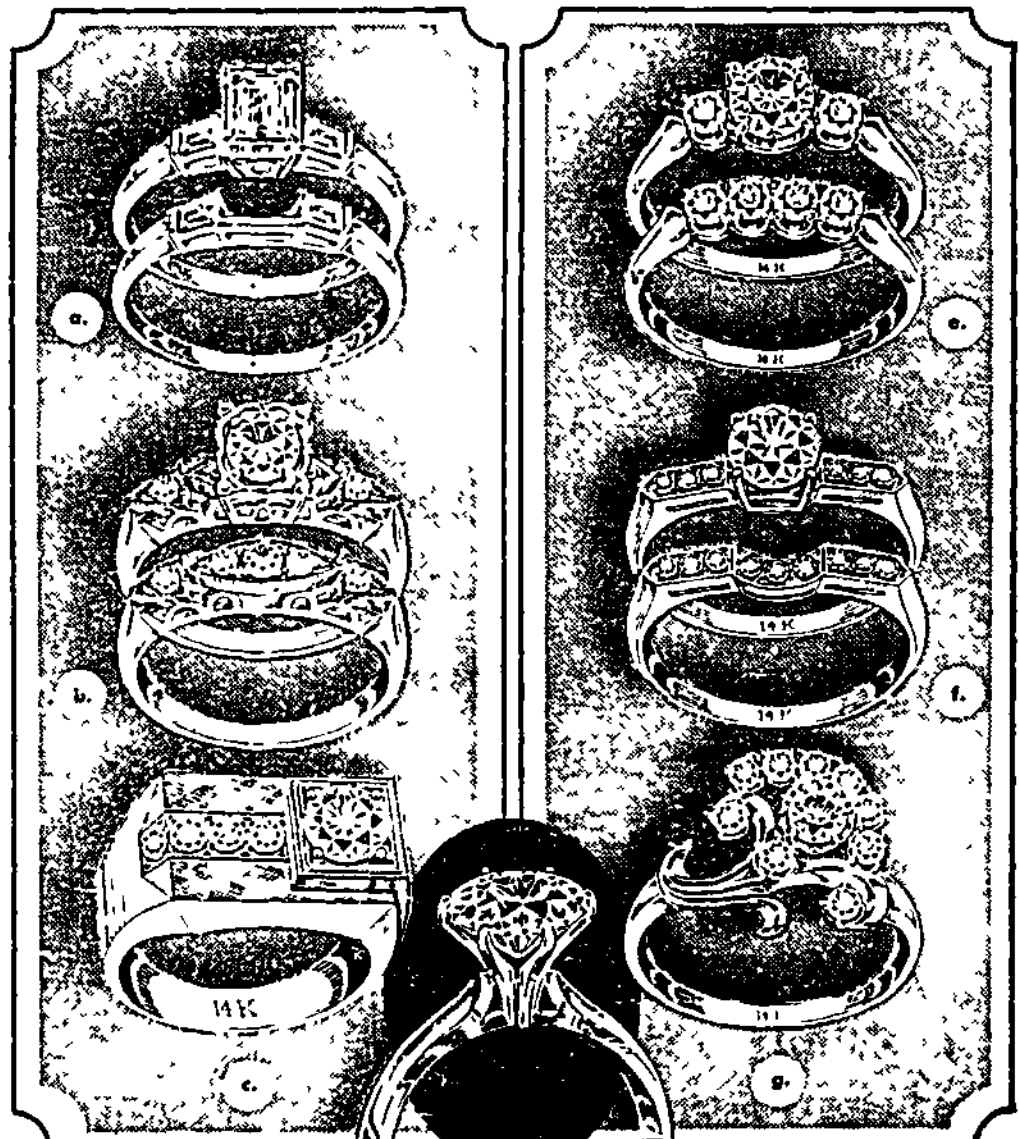

An informal social hour will be held at 6 o'clock at the Lincoln Country Club preceding the 7 o'clock banquet.

Hostess At Swimming Party

A party hostess on Wednesday afternoon was Miss Kathy Ward, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Milton Ward, who entertained a group of friends at a swimming party.

The guests, all sixth and seventh graders at Meadow Lane and Culler Junior High Schools, spent the afternoon hours in the pool, after which they went to the Ward home for a wiener roast.

Attendants Announced

Announcing the members of her bridal party this morning is Miss Susan Sanger whose marriage to Dave Wohlfarth will take place on Friday, Aug. 16. For the service, the bride-elect has named her sister, Mrs. Don Novatny of Wadsworth, Ohio, as her matron of honor. The bridesmaids will be Miss Martha Sanger, also a sister of the bride-to-be, and Miss Sally Dale.

Miss Tracey Gabelman and Miss Linda Wohlfarth will be flower girls, and carrying the ring will be Miss Becky Wohlfarth. William Coufal of Schuyler will serve as best man, and the ushers will be Carl Wohlfarth, Lincoln, and Paul Wohlfarth, Escondido, Calif., brothers of the bridegroom-elect; Cloyd Clark, Elwood; and Jerry Gabelman and Gary Fleischman.

Dear Abby

Buy Story When He Quits Job

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: Lloyd and I have been married five years. We have two children. I thought we were very happy until last week. A strange man telephoned me and told me that if my husband didn't stay away from his wife there would be trouble. When my husband came home I asked him point blank. He admitted that he and this married woman loved each other and had been seeing one another for a year. He said they were planning to get divorces and marry each other. Abby, Lloyd is 25 and she is 38! She has four children. Can this be love? Last night she and Lloyd sat and talked with me. They said they had decided to call it quits because of the children. Abby, they work together in the same plant, and I know they won't stop "loving" each other no matter what they say. Neither will give up his job. What should I do?

BROKEN-HEARTED at 23

DEAR BROKEN-HEARTED: Assuming Lloyd and this woman WERE sincere in their promises to "call it quits," if they continue to work together, their good intentions won't last long. Tell Lloyd that you will believe that he means to "call it quits" when either HE or she quits the plant. Offer to move anywhere, but don't buy their story unless they are out of temptation's way.

DEAR ABBY: I am a woman who once weighed 220 pounds. I finally got down to 130. It took me almost a year, but I did it. I love myself this way, and I'll NEVER be fat again. What bothers me is people who say, "Oh, I liked you better fat!" Or, "Somehow you don't seem the same. You seem to have lost something in your personality!" Abby, how can you get along with people like that?

THINNER AND Madder

DEAR THINNER: You don't "get along" with people like that. You try to get along without them. They'd miss a wart on the end of your nose if they had become accustomed to seeing it there. But would YOU?

DEAR ABBY: There is an elderly woman in our neighborhood who is driving everyone crazy. She is a dog-feeder. She makes her poor 72-year-old husband climb fences to feed other people's dogs that are cooped up in their own yards. We have two dogs that we feed ourselves and we don't want anyone else feeding them. We are not alone in our complaints. The whole neighborhood is having trouble with these two nuts because of this. Isn't this a job for the police?

DOG OWNER

DEAR DOG OWNER: "Neighbor-trouble" IS indeed a job for the police. But only after a warning visit has been made, without results.

DEAR ABBY: I read the letter from "Disgusted Husband" who complained because his wife had only an eighth grade education, and all she'd read in the newspaper was the funnies. He's lucky. My wife graduated from high school and she asks me to EXPLAIN the funnies to her.

to the right side of the fabric at the point where the knot will be. Holding the thread taut, twist the thread around the needle two or three times (figure a). Place needle through the fabric close to the point where you brought it through the first time (figure b). Pull the thread through the fabric, forming the French knot (figure c).

Q. How can I alter a regular pattern into a half-size one? I rarely find styles I like in the half-size group.—MRS. N. O.

A. Shorten the bodice to your waist length, using the shortening and lengthening guide line on the pattern. Shorten the skirt, using the guide line on the pattern. Shorten long sleeves by laying tucks across the pattern above and below the elbow. Enlarge the waistline and hipline by slashing the skirt pattern and spreading the pieces apart until you get any extra width needed. Also enlarge the bodice waistline by slashing the pattern and be sure it measures the same as the skirt waistline. You will probably have to enlarge the waist and hip about three inches each.

Q. When I baste certain materials, such as satin, the basting leaves marks after it is pressed. How can I avoid this?—MRS. G. V.

A. Use silk thread when basting on satin or fabrics that mark easily. Silk thread slips in and out of fabric easily and smoothly, and if you have to press with basting still in the dress, it won't leave marks.

Opening lead — king of clubs.

Skill in dummy play consists largely of deducing how the defenders' cards are divided. Once the adverse hands are known, it is relatively easy to make the maximum number of tricks.

In most deals it is possible for declarer to learn how the adverse cards are distributed and thus achieve the best result. There are clues in nearly every hand to guide him to the best method of play. Some clues stand out like a sore thumb; others will be more difficult to spot and interpret.

Take this hand. West led the king of clubs and continued with a low club to the ace. East returned the ten of spades, covered by the queen and king and taken with the ace. South eventually lost a spade and a diamond and went down one.

On the surface it would seem that South did nothing wrong. He had four losers—and he lost them. But actually, South missed the opportunity to make the contract. He erred at trick three when he covered the ten of spades with the queen. He should have played the six instead.

Undoubtedly, South played the queen in the hope that East had the king. However, this was not a realistic view to take, since the defenders could easily have arranged for West to be on lead at trick three instead of East.

New Look At Agrarian Problems Needed, Plains Ag Council Told

By DICK STUCKEY
Star Staff Writer

Farm experts meeting at the opening session of the Great Plains Agricultural Council Wednesday were told to take a new look at agrarian problems.

Dr. Marion Clawson, director of land use and management programs for Resources for the Future, Washington, D.C., said farmers now face greater problems than those which have dominated consideration for 30 years.

In a keynote address to agricultural leaders from the 10 Great Plains states, Clawson said problems in farm income, increased land values and the rural-to-urban population shift should now take top priority in agricultural policy consideration.

He indicated that the usual policy-making problems of supply management, price supports and storage and disposal programs, although important, are not as fundamental as the financial and settlement problems farmers are now facing.

Pointing out a decline in income per farm during a period when non-farmers saw salaries soar, Clawson expressed little hope for raising farm incomes because of social and economic complexities working against the farmer.

Paralleling Clawson's views on population growth problems, Kansas State University sociologist Dr. Wayne Rohrer told the council a great need existed for "a co-ordinating, aggressive rural-urban team."

Settlement of the Great Plains brought with it multiplicity in schools, churches, governmental units, banks and newspapers which have caused gigantic social-cultural problems, he said.

Rohrer said this multiplicity has been accompanied by a "substantial" farm and non-farm middle class split.

A breakthrough in new ways to solve problems in sparsely settled areas is badly needed, Rohrer said.

He suggested that a "strong university" would be required to carry on revolutionary research in this basically social area.

Achieving such a result will not be easy, Rohrer said, because research needed would be opposed by the uninformed and by many persons with vested interests in the present social and technical arrangement in the sparsely settled Great Plains agricultural areas.

University of Nebraska

Chancellor Clifford M. Hardin told the council that land grant colleges and universities must be "flexible enough, imaginative enough to recognize trends and work with them instead of resisting them."

Hardin told the economists, educators and administrators that universities must be acutely aware of what is happening down on the farm so that future results may be anticipated.

Clawson predicted a vast shrinkage in total population in open country and towns under 5,000. He estimated that one of every 4 farms (nearly a million) would be wiped out by the year 2000.

He pointed to horse and buggy day county road and small town setups designed for an era when transportation was slow and expensive and population larger.

Decline in population in such an archaic organization will work a "major strain" on small town governmental service costs and business solvency, he said.

Dr. M. L. Urchurch, staff economist for the U.S. Department of Agriculture, said the challenge for the Great Plains and the rest of rural America is "combining a coordinated way all possible means of economic development."

The executive board of the Legislative Council Wednesday approved an agreement with the accounting firm of Peat, Marwick, Mitchell & Co. to proceed with the study and implementation of a new central accounting system for the state.

The Legislature approved a total of $250,000 to carry out the final phases of the accounting study begun earlier this year—$146,000 to go to the business firm making the study, and $104,000 toward implementation.

Under terms of the agreement approved Wednesday, the state may terminate the services of the accounting firm at any time it desires.

Sen. Harold Stryker of Rising City, chairman of the council's executive board, said representatives of the accounting firm will meet about once a month with the board to review steps taken and proposed.

He noted, however, that the office of the state tax commissioner will be responsible for determining which recommendations will be followed.

The same firm conducted Phase One of the study which cost $50,000 and resulted in recommendations for broad changes in the state's present data processing and accounting procedures.

Two proposed constitutional amendments have been approved for submission to voters in the 1964 general election. If approved, they would provide the framework for many of the changes already proposed to modernize and streamline state government.

The executive board, in other action, authorized Kearney State College's request to issue revenue bonds to help pay for an addition to its Student Union building. The addition will contain a new lobby, main lounge and faculty lounge. Remodeling of the existing structure also is planned. Estimated cost of the construction work is $193,000.

The State Normal Board said there is $121,000 available for the building program, but plans are to issue revenue bonds for up to $100,000 to finance the total project.

Bomb Blast Hits Capitol In Colombia

Bogota, Colombia (AP) — A powerful homemade bomb exploded in the main chamber of the capitol building late Tuesday night an hour after representatives and two cabinet ministers meeting there had adjourned for lack of a quorum.

Furniture was damaged but no one was injured.

The bombing came 9 days after terrorists touched off a series of small fires in what police said was an attempt to burn down the building.

The newspaper El Espectador reported a telephone caller after the explosion said it was in retaliation for what he called the slaying of students in southern Cali last July 19.

Police said the so-called students were members of a leftist gang that had been terrorizing the area and distributing subversive propaganda.

Feeling Fit as a Fiddle? Dr. Walter C. Alvarez' column "Medical Round-up" appearing in the "Sunday Journal and Star" gives sound advice on how to keep healthy.

Yanks Get 3-2 Victory

New York (AP)—Tom Tresh smashed a home run with two out in the bottom of the 9th inning to give the New York Yankees a 3-2 victory Wednesday and the rubber of their 3 game series with the Kansas City Athletics.

Ted Bowfield, a left-hander, was on the mound for the Athletics. He had replaced starter Diego Segui in the 6th inning and had held the Yankees scoreless until Tresh's game-winning blow.

Bowfield retired the first two Yankees in the 9th easily enough and got over two quick strikes to the switch hitting Tresh, who was batting right-handed. Tommy slammed the next pitch into the upper deck in left field for his 18th home run.

At Green Bay, Taylor said he thought he was ready for action. He tested his knee by running up and down the steps of the City Stadium. Nitschke continued to receive treatment at Green Bay Hospital for a back injury.

Green Bay also figures to be less formidable than in last year's 42-20 spanking of the All-Stars going without rugged halfback Paul Hornung, who was suspended for betting.

"I don't know how much we'll see of Taylor or Nitschke," said Graham, former Cleveland Browns quarterback, "but pro teams improvise surprisingly well."

"In fact, the big problem is this All-Star game is the experience differential. You can't teach in 3 weeks what it takes 3 or 4 years of tough pro competition to acquire."

"It isn't a question of comparative ability or brains or willingness. It simply is a matter of time and adjustment. Last year, for instance we didn't get pushed around by the Packers."

Injuries To Hurt Packers?

Chicago (AP)—While favoritism of the National Football League champion Green Bay Packers shank, the brassy college All-Star squad had a dress rehearsal drill Wednesday night under the lights of Soldier Field, scene of Friday night's 30th All-Star game.

Undoubtedly affected by packer camp injuries suffered by star fullback Jim Taylor and brilliant middle linebacker Ray Nitschke, Green Bay's margin among bettors reportedly slumped from 17½ to 14½ points.

All-Star Coach Otto Graham isn't impressed with dispatches from Green Bay's West DePere, Wis., training site concerning Taylor's knee injury and Nitschke's twisted back, but it appeared fairly definite both may see only limited service Friday night.

At Green Bay, Taylor said he thought he was ready for action. He tested his knee by running up and down the steps of the City Stadium. Nitschke continued to receive treatment at Green Bay Hospital for a back injury.

Green Bay also figures to be less formidable than in last year's 42-20 spanking of the All-Stars going without rugged halfback Paul Hornung, who was suspended for betting.

"I don't know how much we'll see of Taylor or Nitschke," said Graham, former Cleveland Browns quarterback, "but pro teams improvise surprisingly well."

"In fact, the big problem is this All-Star game is the experience differential. You can't teach in 3 weeks what it takes 3 or 4 years of tough pro competition to acquire."

"It isn't a question of comparative ability or brains or willingness. It simply is a matter of time and adjustment. Last year, for instance we didn't get pushed around by the Packers."

"They didn't even beat us on the ground, but on long, easy passes on which they knew what they were doing and we didn't. We were caught in such mental errors as going the wrong way."

The All-Stars hope to have a better umbrella against any shower of Packer Bart Starr passes than they had with undersized defensive backs last season.

The collegiate secondary will include 6-foot-4 Tommy Janik of Texas A&M and 6-2 Larry Glueck of Villanova at defensive backs and 6-2 Lonnie Sanders, a Michigan State end, and swift Kermit Alexander, 5-11 UCLA halfbacks, at the safeties.

As the All-Stars moved in from their Northwestern University base in Evanston, Ill., for the Soldier Field workout, it was guessed the starting collegiate offensive backfield might include Rose Bowl star Ron VanderKelen of Wisconsin at quarterback; Larry Ferguson of Iowa at running halfback; Northwestern's great pass receiver, Paul Flatley, at flanker back; and Nebraska's 212-pound Bill (Thunder) Thornton at fullback.

However, Heisman Trophy winner Terry Baker of Oregon State, Mississippi's able Glynn Griffing, and 6-7½ Sonny Gibbs of Texas Christian are ready to handle the important quarterback post.

The unsung heroes of a possible upset may come from such defensive collegiate stalwarts as 222-pound Don Brumm of Purdue, 235-pound Fred Miller of Louisiana State, 254-pound Jim Dunaway of Mississippi and 255-pound Chuck Sieminski of Penn State, playing a four-man "pro line," and line-backers Lee Roy Jordan, All-Star co-captain from Alabama, Arkansas' Danny Brabham, and Dave Robinson of Penn State. These line-backers weigh 206, 215 and 230 respectively.

Bateman Fires Hot Round; Still Lags

... KNIGHT HAS HEALTHY LEAD

By HAL BROWN
Star Sports Editor

How can a golfer tie Gary Player's score at Hillcrest Country Club on the back 9 and still be in 4th place in the Lincoln Boys City Junior Golf Tournament?

Tim Bateman, a 14-year-old who will be a sophomore at University High School, can tell you how. By shooting a 96 the previous day at the Lincoln Country Club.

Bateman, who toured the back 9 at Hillcrest Wednesday in par 36 for a 77 total for the day in the 3rd round of the boys meet, should be in a contending position for the title to be decided today at Pioneers. Player also shot 36 on the back 9 Tuesday in an exhibition.

But, instead, he is 14 strokes behind Dean Knight's leading 242 total for 54 holes.

Nearly every trouble that could befall a golfer hit Bateman Tuesday when he took a 96 at LCC after playing Pioneers in 83 Monday.

"Nothing went right yesterday," he moaned Bateman Wednesday as he rested in the shade after his excellent round at Hillcrest.

"I lost a ball, had to hit 4 others from the base of trees, and hit a wrong ball," the youngster explained in talking about his bad round.

"Now with today's round, instead of being close to the leader, I am still far behind," he continued.

Bateman's par round on the back 9 Wednesday at Hillcrest was his best score of the year over the route. His best score on the front 9 is 38—a feat accomplished more than once.

But Bateman's 18-hole total of 77 is not his best. "I had a 75 earlier this year," he points out.

A 50-foot putt for a birdie 2 on the 16th hole aided Bateman's par score. Bateman hit a 4-iron to the green on the 190-yard hole, then canned the long putt for his only birdie of the day.

Knight continued to pace the field as he increased his lead to 7 strokes over Bart Dennis. Knight went into the 3rd round with a 5-stroke margin and shot an 82 Wednesday while Dennis fell back with an 84.

Walt Radcliffe is in 3rd place going into today's final 18 holes and Scott Brunzell and Bateman are tied for the 4th spot.

Champions were crowned in all lower flights Wednesday but a playoff is needed today to determine the runner-up in the 4th flight.

Mike Manning and Tom Hayes tied for the No. 2 spot in the 4th flight with 323 totals for 54 holes. The two golfers will stage an 18-hole playoff today at Pioneers to decide the winner of the runner-up trophy.

Larry Wiedman captured the first flight crown with a 239 score—two strokes better than runner-up Bill Jennings. Jim Deitemeyer was 3rd at 292 and Dennis Aandahl finished 4th at 293 in this flight.

The second flight title went to Bob Baldwin with a 296. Two strokes back was Terry Grasmick and Steve Dermeyer was 3rd with 303.

The 3rd flight was won by Dick Marshall with 311 while Terry Taylor was runner-up at 313. Dave Peter won the 4th flight with a 319 score.

Bob Brockley's 339 captured the top prize in the 5th flight while Harvey Kaufman Jr. was second at 340. Neal Becker won the 6th flight at 347 and Mark Taylor was runner-up with 351.

The 7th flight winner was Pat Fisher at 376 and Curt Pral was second with 389.

Rich Rumbaugh, who had been in last place among the 87 golfers after the first two days of play, staged an Arnie Palmer-like charge on the final 9 Wednesday to move up to 86th for the tournament.

Rumbaugh's 66 on the back 9 moved him ahead of Rich Roifmeyer.

Phillies Score 4 In Wild 14th

... GIANTS FALL, 7-3

San Francisco (AP)—Johnny Callison crashed a two-run homer in the 14th inning after pitcher Bob Bolin let in two runs on a throwing error as Philadelphia stopped San Francisco's 9-game winning streak with a 7-3 victory.

The Phils had fought from behind with two runs in the 9th against 17-game winner Juan Marichal and rode through extra innings on the strong relief of Jack Baldschun.

Bob Oldis led off the 14th with a single and Don Hoak was safe on catcher Ed Bailey's interference when he bunted. Oldis made it to second when Bolin's throw was late.

Earl Averill bounced to the pitcher, but Bolin threw the ball 10 feet over 3rd base. Oldis and Hoak scoring. With two out, Callison homered over the right field fence. All the runs were unearned.

Baldschun allowed just two hits in his 6 innings and earned his 9th victory against 4 losses.

Some 13.6 million traveling Americans spent approximately $18.5 billion last year within the boundaries of the U.S. for transportation, accommodations, food, clothing, recreation, and equipment. Airways, railroads, steamships, bus lines, tours, etc. invested over $224 million in national newspaper advertising in 1960 to inform people of their services. Hotels and resorts invested nearly $21 million.

Weary Solons End Deadlock

Sacramento, Calif. (AP)—Weary California assemblymen broke Wednesday a bitter budget deadlock that had kept them locked in session for 24 hours.

Republicans in the lower house lifted a blockade of Democratic Gov. Edmund G. Brown's $106 million budget augmentation bill and provided the needed votes. Nine GOP legislators joined with a majority Democrats and gave the measure a 60-17 vote.

Brown is vacationing in Europe. He had called the legislature into special session July 8 to reconsider an administration revenue plan defeated at the regular session which ended in June.

Nowhere To Spend It
The lawmakers gave Brown a $149 million revenue boost by approving bills to speed up collection of state taxes, but the budget deadlock had left him with nowhere to spend it.

The break came when a Senate-Assembly conference committee announced agreement on a bill to boost state public school aid by $100 million over the next two years.

Republicans had demanded assurances that there would be a school bill before they would vote either for or against the budget.

Republican caucus leader Don Mulford of Piedmont said "We want to be very, very sure" there will be a school bill. He accused speaker Jesse M. Unruh, D-Los Angeles of trying to break the GOP caucus.

Unruh, in turn, charged minority Republicans with trying to blackmail the majority.

School Aid Boost

He insisted the budget should be passed before the school bill. The budget includes a $40 million increase in the state's $800 million-a-year school aid program, but can't be spent without the allocation bill.

The House is 52-28 Democratic but a two-thirds majority, or 54 votes, is needed to pass the budget measure. When the 27 Republicans present refused to vote either way on the budget Tuesday, Unruh barricaded them under a "call of the house," a device used to bring in absent members to vote.

Democrats were given passes to leave for dinner, but Republicans had to send out for sandwiches.

As the session continued into the day, it surpassed a 17-hour "call of the house" over a labor bill in 1941 to become the longest continuous session since 1939.

The budget measure provides funds for a new and increased state programs, including $48 million to finance at least a 5% pay raise for 80% of the 120,000 state employees.

Arturo Illia New Leader Of Argentina

Buenos Aires, Argentina (AP)—Dr. Arturo Illia, a 62-year-old country doctor turned politician, was elected Wednesday night the 20th president of Argentina, according to unofficial tabulations.

Illia, the son of an Italian immigrant, held 189 electoral college votes with the voting complete in 18 of the country's 23 provinces and federal district.

In the remaining 5 voting districts he was assured of another 55 votes being cast for his election by his own party, the People's Radical Civic Union. This would give Illia 244 votes—5 more than needed for election.

Before the electoral college began the last stage of selecting a new president, Dr. Illia had sufficient pledges to assure his election.

In Argentina, the people vote for members of the electoral college and the college then votes for a president but the procedure is somewhat different from that of the electoral college system in the United States.

Illia is an anti-communist, and an anti-Peronist moderate who campaigned mainly on 4 issues, including the freeing of political prisoners.

While his election was being climaxed in the voting, the Argentine Ministry of Interior announced that deposed president Arturo Frondizi had been freed after 16 months and 2 days as a political prisoner.

Don't miss it. News of friends on vacation, marriages, engagements, parties, P.T.A. notes and club meetings makes good reading in the family section of "Sunday Journal and Star."

400-Pounder Challenge For Sheriff

Pauline, Neb. (UPI)—Sheriff Bob Anderson lassoed a 400-pound fugitive Wednesday.

He won't soon forget the chase, the capture—and particularly the trip back home.

The fugitive was a black bear named Martha who had teeth prominent enough to make even a red-blooded sheriff turn pale and characteristics of stubbornness born of association with donkeys.

As it turned out, the teeth gave Anderson no trouble. But Martha's donkey-like stubbornness did.

Martha, who is really a friendly sort, got loose Tuesday from Grover Stapleman's place near here while Stapleman, who operates a donkey baseball show, was out drumming up business for his donkeys. Donkey baseball, in which the players ride astride donkeys, is a popular feature at Midwestern fairs.

Safari Moves Out
Martha was spotted Wednesday about two miles from Pauline. Anderson led a posse on a safari.

When the searchers saw the bear along a county road, they took off after her on foot. She proved surprisingly fast.

Once Martha became tangled in a barbed wire fence and the intrepid hunters thought they had her. She lunged free.

She got stuck in the fork of a v-shaped tree. Again she eluded them.

In the spirit of the old West, Anderson sent for a lasso. He finally succeeded in looping it around the bear's head.

That was only part of the battle.

Starts Marching
Anderson didn't even consider putting 400 pounds of black bear into the back seat of his cruiser. Instead, he started marching down the road, Martha on the end of a rope like a big, overgrown dog.

But Martha got hot. Like a donkey, she balked.

Anderson coaxed, Martha sat down in the road.

For nearly two miles down the hot, dusty road, the sheriff sweated and cajoled and Martha alternately lumbered along and sat.

A quarter mile from Stapleman's corral, a friendly farmer in a pickup truck gave the pair a lift.

"I've worked with horses and cattle," Anderson muttered, "but never before with a bear named Martha."

been relocated at 11 other Armour plants. A spokesman for the Armour automation fund, which handles much of the transferring, said the workers will receive roughly the same wages they received at the Sioux City plant.

Armour's contract with the meat packing unions says only that it must offer transfers for displaced employees to already-operating plants.

But union leaders want to expand transfer possibilities to include new plants being built or contemplated by the company. They fear the workers are being moved to other outdated plants which eventually will be closed as the Sioux City facility was.

Of particular interest is the Armour Plant under construction at West Point, Neb., only 40 miles from Sioux City.

Fairbury—Republican State Chairman Robert Denney Wednesday declared his "full confidence in the activities of the Young Republican state executive committee and its members."

Denney's statement followed what he termed a personal investigation of a resolution approved by the Young Republicans in a meeting at Grand Island last Sunday.

A check of the minutes showed the following language was adopted in the resolution, Denney said:

"It was moved and second-

Dinges Files As GOP For Lt. Gov. Nod

Herman J. Dinges, owner and operator of a Lincoln tavern, has filed for the Republican nomination for lieutenant governor.

Dinges, 44, was an unsuccessful candidate for mayor earlier this year, finishing fifth in the April primary election. He polled 635 votes.

His filing fee was paid at the Lancaster county treasurer's office.

Dinges said that "if people are tired of having too much tax on beer, cigarettes and other property, the time has come to do something about it."

"Tax Tourists"

Nebraskans "would rather have something else taxed for a change—the tourists, perhaps," Dinges noted.

The Lincolnite attended the University of Nebraska and later worked as a tool and die maker. He has owned and operated the Bismarck Tavern for the past 12 years.

Meanwhile, Lester H. Anderson of Lincoln revealed plans to file again for the GOP nomination.

Anderson, 68, a former 5-term state senator, ran unsuccessfully against Lt. Gov. Dwight Burney in 1960 and 1962.

Burney is a candidate for the Republican nomination for governor.

Willard Waldo de Witt previously filed for the GOP lieutenant governor nod.

Waldo Wednesday wrote Secretary of State Frank Marshall that he has paid his $10 filing fee with the Saline County treasurer, then asked if the fee is sufficient as a result of legislation passed by the 1963 Unicameral.

The Legislature enacted a bill boosting filing fees, but it will not become effective until Oct. 19.

Meeting Set

Caracas (U) — Venezuelan President Romulo Betancourt will meet with Colombia's President Guillermo Leon Valencia in August in San Cristobal, a city on the Venezuela-Colombia border, a spokesman for Betancourt reported.

Each bidder must be qualified to submit a proposal for any part or all of this work as provided in Legislative Bill No. 127, 1963 Legislative Session.

The attention of bidders is directed to the fact that the Department of Roads has been advised by the Wage and Hour Division, U.S. Department of Labor, that contractors engaged in highway construction work are required to meet the provisions of the Fair Labor Standards Act of 1938 (52 Stat. 1060), as amended.

The minimum wage rates for this project have been predetermined by the Secretary of Labor and are set forth in the advertised specifications.

This contract is subject to the Work Hours Act of 1938 (52 Stat. 1060), as amended.

Plans and specifications for the work may be seen and information secured at the office of the Department of Roads at Lincoln, Nebraska.

The successful bidder will be required to furnish bond in an amount equal to 100% of his contract.

As an evidence of good faith in submitting a proposal for this work, the bidder must file, with his proposal, a certified or cashier's check made payable to the Department of Roads and in an amount not less than four thousand three hundred and eighty dollars ($4,380.00).

The right is reserved to waive all technicalities and reject any or all bids.

WARDS RIVERSIDE

For the second time this year, Parnelli Jones drove the searing 2 1/2 miles of Indianapolis track. This time to prove the strength and endurance of Riverside ST-107's tires.

Jones was merciless. He ground into turns and rocketed down at straightaway speeds up to 138.46 mph!

The ST-107's were pounded and baked in the Indiana sun. They suffered more abuse than tires ever receive; and they held!

This was no stunt. Riverside engineers knew the strength and quality built into every Riverside tire would take it. Though you will never drive 138 mph, it's comforting to ride on tires that can deliver high-speed proven Riverside tires!
